processing and physiology rely on a delicate interplay between glutamatergic excitatory neurons and GABAergic inhibitory interneurons in a spatially temporally and cell type specific manner Understanding these processes is complicated further by the large diversity characterizing the cerebral cortex Although recent advances have significantly improved our knowledge of its neuronal types the identity and the roles of several subpopulations of GABAergic interneurons remain elusive Presumably because of their apparent paucity their diversity the highly labile nature of nitric oxide NO as well as its pleiotropic actions the functional importance of NO producing GABAergic interneurons is particularly enigmatic This Research Topic will cover the different aspects of cortical NO interneurons from their diversity embryonic origins to their functions in the cortical
