Ammar, 2013-09-05 This is Volume IV of eighteen in a series on the Sociology of Development Originally published in 1954 this text stems from years of field work in the village in Silwa Province of Aswan Egypt which has a homogenous social structure and economic life Although quite isolated geographically it has not been unaffected by social change and part of the book deals with the impact of a modern system of schooling on the outlook and activities of the villagers Indirect Subjects Matthew H. Brown, 2021-08-23 In Indirect Subjects Matthew H Brown analyzes the content of the prolific Nigerian film industry s mostly direct to video movies alongside local practices of production and circulation to show how screen media play spatial roles in global power relations Scrutinizing the deep structural and aesthetic relationship between Nollywood as the industry is known and Nigerian state television Brown tracks how several Nollywood films in ways similar to both state television programs and colonial cinema productions invite local spectators to experience liberal capitalism not only as a form of exploitation but as a set of expectations about the future This mode of address which Brown refers to as periliberalism sustains global power imbalances by locating viewers within liberalism but distancing them from its processes and benefits Locating the wellspring of this hypocrisy in the British Empire s practice of indirect rule Brown contends that culture industries like Nollywood can sustain capitalism by isolating ordinary African people whose labor and consumption fuel it from its exclusive privileges Models and Mirrors Don Handelman, 1998 Ritual is one of the most discussed cultural practices yet its treatment in anthropological terms has been seriously limited characterized by a host of narrow conceptual distinctions One major reason for this situation has been the prevalence of positivist anthropologies that have viewed and summarized ritual occasions first and foremost in terms of their declared and assumed functions By contrast this book which has become a classic investigates them as epistemological phenomena in their own right Comparing public events a domain which includes ritual and related occasions the author argues that any public event must first be comprehended through the logic of its design It is the logic of organization of an occasion which establishes in large measure what that occasion is able to do in relation to the world within which it is
