How to Garden the Low Carbon Way Sally Nex,2021

A New Garden Ethic Benjamin Vogt,2017-09-01

In a time of climate change and mass extinction how we garden matters more than ever An outstanding and deeply passionate book Marc Bekoff author of The Emotional Lives of Animals Plenty of books tell home gardeners and professional landscape designers how to garden sustainably what plants to use and what resources to explore Yet few examine why our urban wildlife gardens matter so much not just for ourselves but for the larger human and animal communities Our landscapes push aside wildlife and in turn diminish our genetically programmed love for wildness How can we get ourselves back into balance through gardens to speak life s language and learn from other species Benjamin Vogt addresses why we need a new garden ethic and why we urgently need wildness in our daily lives lives sequestered in buildings surrounded by monocultures of lawn and concrete that significantly harm our physical and mental health He examines the psychological issues around climate change and mass extinction as a way to understand how we are short circuiting our response to global crises especially by not growing native plants in our gardens Simply put environmentalism is not political it s social justice for all species marginalized today and for those facing extinction tomorrow By thinking deeply and honestly about our built landscapes we can create a compassionate activism that connects us more profoundly to nature and to one another
