A Garden Century Christchurch Botanic Gardens, 1962      A Garden Century M. J. Barnett,      Gardens at the Frontier James Beattie, 2019-12-18 Gardens at the Frontier addresses broad issues of interest to architectural historians environmental historians garden writers geographers and other scholars It uses different disciplinary perspectives to explore garden history s thematic geographical and methodological frontiers through a focus on gardens as sites of cultural contact The contributors address the extent to which gardens inhibit or further cultural contact the cultural translation of garden concepts practices and plants from one place to another the role of non written sources in cultural transfer and which disciplines study gardens and designed landscapes and how and why their approaches vary Chapters cover a range of designed landscapes and locations periods and approaches medieval Japanese roji tea gardens a seventeenth century garden of southern China post war Australian natural gardens iconic twentieth century American modernist gardens international willow pattern design geology and designed landscapes gnomes and landscape authorship of a public garden Each chapter examines transfers of cultural ideas and their physical denouement This book was originally published as a special issue of Studies in the History of Gardens Designed Landscapes      A Garden Century M. J. Barnett, 1964      The Villa At the Edge of the Empire Fiona Farrell, 2015-06-24 A provocative and insightful exploration of rebuilding our homes communities and cities after their devastation Where are we How did we get here Where do we go now From nineteenth century attempts to create Utopias to America s rustbelt from Darwin s study of worms to China s phantom cities this work ranges widely through history and around the world It examines the evolution of cities and of Christchurch in particular looking at its swampy origins and its present reconstruction following the recent destructive earthquakes And it takes us to L Aquila in Italy to observe another shaken city Farrell writes as a citizen caught up in a devastated city in an era when political ideology has transformed the citizen to an asset the raw material on which empire makes its profit In a hundred tiny pieces she comments on contentious issues such as the fate of a cathedral the closure of schools the role of insurers the plans for civic venues Through personal observation conversations with friends a close reading of everything from the daily newspaper to records of other upheavals in Pompeii and Berlin this dazzling book explores community the love of place and ultimately regeneration and renewal      International Directory of Botanical Gardens H. T. Prentice, 1977      International Directory of Botanical Gardens , 1997      Bibliography of Agriculture , 1964      International Directory of Botanical Gardens V. Heikki Simola, Vernon Hilton Heywood, Christine A. Heywood, Peter Wyse Jackson, 1990      Buildings of Empire Ashley Jackson, 2013-11-28 Buildings of Empire takes the reader on an exciting journey through thirteen territories of the British Empire From Dublin Castle to the glass and steel of Sir Norman Foster s Hong Kong and Shanghai Bank skyscraper these buildings capture the essence of the imperial experience painting an intimate portrait of the biggest empire the world has ever seen the people who made it and the people who resisted it as well as the legacy of the imperial project throughout the world Ashley Jackson visits classic examples of the buildings that the British governed from the forts they often brutally imposed their rule from the railway stations they travelled from the banks they traded from the educational establishments they spread their values from as well as the grand colonial hotels they stayed in the sporting clubs and botanical gardens where they took their leisure and the monumental exhibition spaces in which they celebrated the achievements of settlement and imperial endeavour The history of these buildings does not end with the empire that built them Their story in the aftermath of empire highlights the continuing legacy of many of the structures and institutions the British left behind as well as the sometimes unexpected role that these former symbols of alien rule have played in the establishment of new national identities in the years since independence

New Zealand Tourism eBook GURMEET SINGH DANG, Nature Displaced, Nature Displayed Nuala C. Johnson,2011-04-29 Botanical gardens brought together in a single space the great diversity of the earth s flora They displaced nature from forest and foothill and re arranged it to reveal something of the scientific principles underpinning the apparent chaos of the wild Nature Displaced Nature Displayed shows how the design and display of such gardens was not determined by scientific principles alone Through a study of three botanical gardens belonging to the University of Cambridge the Royal Dublin Society and the Belfast Natural History Society the author shows how the final outcome involved a complex interplay of ideas about place identity empire botanical science and especially aesthetics creating spaces that would educate the mind as well as please the senses This highly engaging book offers a wealth of fresh insights into both the history and development of botanical gardens as well as connections between science and aesthetics Garden Tourism Richard Benfield,2013 Garden visitation has been a tourism motivator for many years and can now be enjoyed in many different forms Private garden visiting historical garden tourism urban gardens and a myriad of festivals shows and events all allow the green fingered enthusiast to appreciate the natural world This book traces the history of garden visitation and examines tourist motivations to visit gardens Useful for garden managers and tourism students as well as casual readers it also examines management and marketing of gardens for tourism purposes before concluding with a detailed look at the form and tourism based role of gardens in the future The Regional Travel Guide for the South Island (New Zealand) , Changing Representations of Nature and the City Gabriel N. Gee,Alison Vogelaar,2018-07-04 The turn of the 1960s 70s characterized by the rapid acceleration of globalization prompted a radical transformation in the perception of urban and natural environments The urban revolution and related prospect of the total urbanisation of the planet in concert with rapid population growth and resource exploitation instigated a surge in environmental awareness and activism One implication of this moment is a growing recognition of the integration and interconnection of natural and urban entities The present collection is an interdisciplinary inquiry into the changing modes of representation of nature in the city beginning from the turn of the 1960s 70s Bringing together a number of different disciplinary approaches including architectural studies and aesthetics heritage studies and economics environmental science and communication the collection reflects upon the changing perception of socio natures in the context of increasing urban expansion and global interconnectedness as they are were manifest in specific representations Using cases studies from around the globe the collection offers a historical and theoretical understanding of a paradigmatic shift whose material and symbolic legacies are still accompanying us in the early 21st century Year Book International Dendrology Society,1966 Horticulture in New Zealand ,1990
