Red Water, Black

Gold Margaret A. Bickers, 2014-11-15 Red Water Black Gold The Canadian River in Texas 1920 1999 tells the story of the Canadian River in the Texas Panhandle. It is a tale of grand designs, high hopes, deep holes, politics, fishing follies, foibles, and environmental change. Although efforts had been made to tap the Canadian River's waters before 1920, the discovery of oil in the Panhandle gave new urgency to the search for permanent water supplies. Additionally, the spread of groundwater irrigation amid the discovery of the limits of the Ogallala Aquifer spurred regional interests to tap the Canadian. But overestimates of the river's flow and unfamiliarity with the critical role groundwater played in maintaining that flow led to complications and frustrations culminating in a lawsuit over the location of the banks of a seemingly waterless river. This book is a valuable addition to the water history of Texas and the American West and to the growing body of worldwide regional water histories. Combining traditional historical sources with hydrology, climatology, and geology, Red Water Black Gold complicates the traditional story of top-down water management as well as telling the thus far untold story of the Canadian River in Texas.

Sea Gate Remembered Arnold Rosen, 2003-12-30 Today gated communities abound in our nation. But what was it like living in one 100 years ago? Author Arnold Rosen describes life in New York's first gated community: the gate was erected in 1898. In his book SEA GATE REMEMBERED, as the pages turn, this book tours you through the generation's coming of age in the 1930s and 40s: the games we played, the stores we shopped, the schools we attended, and the somber war years. So much of the many privacies beyond the gate are revealed by the author and ex-Sea Gaters who spent their youthful years beyond the wired fences at the southwestern tip of Brooklyn, walled off from Coney Island, next door and extending to the rest of North America. Arnold Rosen, author of twenty books on computers and office technology, grew up in Sea Gate where his father owned and operated sideshows and amusement rides beyond the fence in Coney Island. Now professor emeritus at Nassau Community College, Rosen graduated with a BS degree from Ohio State University and an MS degree from Hunter College after serving in the U.S. Air Force during the Korean War. The author lived in Sea Gate from 1932 to 1952 and now has come full circle to retire in another gated community, Sun City, Hilton Head, South Carolina.

From Hometown to Battlefield in the Civil War Era Timothy R. Mahoney, 2016-05-17 Mahoney examines how the middle class from across the great West were transformed by years of recession and civil war.

Returning Home Jerry M. Burger, 2011-03-16 Each year millions of American adults visit a childhood home. Few can anticipate the effect it will have on them. Often serving several important psychological needs, these trips are not intended as visits with people from their past. Rather, those returning to their homes have a strong desire to visit the places that comprised the landscape of their childhood. Approximately one third of American adults over the age of thirty have visited a childhood home. This book describes some of their experiences and the psychology behind the journeys. Most people who visit a childhood home are motivated by a desire to connect with their past. Seeing the buildings, schools, parks, and playgrounds from their youth helps to establish the psychological and emotional link between the child in the black and white photographs and the person they are today. Many people use the trip to get in touch with the values and principles they were taught as children often as a means to get their lives back on track Others use that journey to strengthen emotional bonds between themselves and loved ones Still others return to former homes to work through psychological issues left over from sad or traumatic childhoods No matter the reason there are few experiences in one s life that can move a person as deeply and unpredictably as returning home

What Then Is This Child Going To Be? Steve Hawley,2003-03 Good Old Days at the Buick ,1990 Joe Hisaishi's Soundtrack for My Neighbor Totoro Kunio Hara,2020-02-06 My Neighbor Totoro is a long standing international icon of Japanese pop culture that grew out of the partnership between the legendary animator Miyazaki Hayao and the world renowned composer Joe Hisaishi A crucial step in the two artists collaboration was the creation of the album My Neighbor Totoro Image Song Collection with lyrics penned by Miyazaki and Nakagawa Rieko a famed children s book author and music composed by Hisaishi The album released in 1987 prior to the opening of the film served not only as a promotional product but also provided Miyazaki with concrete ideas about the characters and the themes of the film This book investigates the extent to which Hisaishi s music shaped Miyazaki s vision by examining the relationship between the images created by Miyazaki and the music composed by Hisaishi with special emphasis on their approaches to nostalgia one of the central themes of the film Falling Down for the Count Albert G. Williams,2003 Transport yourself back to WW II through letters journal entries and telegrams and feel the emotions of a young man as he joins the Army Air Corp and becomes a POW

Literary and Social Diasporas Gaetano Rando, Gerry Turcotte, 2007 This volume seeks to map an understanding of the Italian experience onto the broader picture of diasporic stories though with an anchor in the Australian Italian experience It brings together key essays and testimonials that frame a picture of Italy s rich legacy at home in Europe more widely and in the post colonial sphere with a particular emphasis on the Australian experience The essays collected here focus on the way an Italian Australian story has emerged and evolved in its own unique way In some respects it might be possible to define Australia through this community as an Italian space very much inscribed and described by the many voices that characterise it What is clear throughout these pages is that past present and future circulate through and around each other just as notions of nation colonial postcolonial emigrant and immigrant jostle for purchase in what is in fact a contested space always under negotiation Back cover
