It looks at how these exchanges were mediated through personal encounters, travel writings, and translations involving a variety of protagonists: explorers, writers, poets, preachers, diplomats, and tourists. In particular, this book examines the understanding of Italy as a destination and set of locations, each with their own distinctive geographical character, during a period which saw the creation of the modern Italian state. It also charts the shifts in travelling activity during this period, from early explorers and cartographers via those taking part in the Grand Tour in the 18th and 19th centuries to more modern poet travellers and blogging tourists. Drawing upon literary studies, history, art history, cultural studies, translation studies, sociology, and socio-linguistics, this volume takes a cross-disciplinary approach to its rich constellation of cultural transactions.
