2. Terminology

ac, n —symbol used to designate an electric voltage or current whose amplitude varies periodically as a function of time, its average value over one complete period being zero. One complete repetition of the wave pattern is referred to as a CYCLE, and the number of cycles occurring in one second is called the FREQUENCY, measured in hertz (Hz). For example, the electricity supplied by commercial utility companies in the United States is, in most localities, 60 Hz, although other frequencies may be encountered.

acid treating, n —a refining process in which an unfinished petroleum insulating oil is contacted with sulfuric acid to improve its color, odor, stability, and other properties.

ac loss characteristics, n —those properties of a dielectric or insulation system (such as dissipation factor, power factor, and loss index) that may be used as a measure of the power or energy losses that would result from the use of such material in an ac electric field.
