Coffey, 2012-04-17 This is a study of the reciprocal relationship between Mexican muralism and the three major Mexican museums the Palace of Fine Arts the National History Museum and the National Anthropology Museum Modern Architecture in Mexico City Kathryn E. O'Rourke, 2017-02-10 Mexico City became one of the centers of architectural modernism in the Americas in the first half of the twentieth century Invigorated by insights drawn from the first published histories of Mexican colonial architecture which suggested that Mexico possessed a distinctive architecture and culture beginning in the 1920s a new generation of architects created profoundly visual modern buildings intended to convey Mexico's unique cultural character By midcentury these architects and their students had rewritten the country's architectural history and transformed the capital into a metropolis where new buildings that evoked pre conquest colonial and International Style architecture coexisted Through an exploration of schools a university campus a government ministry a workers park and houses for Diego Rivera and Luis Barragan Kathryn O'Rourke offers a new interpretation of modern architecture in the Mexican capital showing close links between design evolving understandings of national architectural history folk art and social reform This book demonstrates why creating a distinctively Mexican architecture captivated architects whose work was formally dissimilar and how that concern became central to the profession Cosmopolitanism in Mexican Visual Culture María Fernández, 2014-01-06 Since the colonial era Mexican art has emerged from an ongoing process of negotiation between the local and the global which frequently involves invention synthesis and transformation of diverse discursive and artistic traditions In this pathfinding book María Fernández uses the concept of cosmopolitanism to explore this important aspect of Mexican art in which visual culture and power relations unite the local and the global the national and the international the universal and the particular She argues that in Mexico as in other colonized regions colonization constructed power dynamics and forms of violence that persisted in the independent nation state Accordingly Fernández presents not only the visual qualities of objects but also the discourses ideas desires and practices that are fundamental to the very existence of visual objects Fernández organizes episodes in the history of Mexican art and architecture ranging from the seventeenth century to the end of the twentieth century around the consistent but unacknowledged historical theme of cosmopolitanism allowing readers to discern relationships among various historical periods and works that are new and yet simultaneously dependent on their predecessors She uses case studies of art and architecture produced in response to government commissions to demonstrate that established visual forms and meanings in Mexican art reflect and inform desires expectations memories and ways of being in the world in short that visual culture and cosmopolitanism are fundamental to processes of subjectification and identity Artifacts of Revolution Patrice Elizabeth Olsen, 2008-09-11 This innovative history utilizes the built

Constructing Identity in Contemporary Architecture Peter Herrle,Stephanus Schmitz,2009 The global spread of uniform modes of production and cultural values has been accompanied by a dissemination of stereotypes of modern architecture styles almost everywhere around the globe Paradoxically the reverse process has also emerged In some countries the elites feel the necessity to counterbalance the loss of identity and defend their own cultures against the intruding forces of globalization What started as a defensive notion has developed into a more progressive attempt to re create what has allegedly been lost This trend is being strongly expressed in discourses about architecture in countries of the South Who are the actors feeling compelled to construct new identities How are these new identities in architecture created in various parts of the world And which are the ingredients borrowed from various historical and ethnic traditions and other sources These and other questions are discussed in five case studies from different parts of the world written by renowned scholars from Brazil Mexico Egypt India and Singapore The History of North American Theater Felicia Hardison Londré,Daniel J.
