Mustak, Dharmaveer Singh, Prashant Kumar Srivastava, 2023-06-23 This book introduces the use of various remote sensing data such as microwave hyperspectral and very high resolution VHR satellite imagery mapping techniques including pixel and object based machine learning and geostatistical modelling techniques including cellular automation entropy and land fragmentation Remote sensing plays a vital role in solving urban and environmental challenges at the landscape level Globally more than half of the urban population is facing severe environmental and social challenges especially those relating to climate change agricultural land encroachment green infrastructure and environmental degradation mobility due to rapid rural urban transformation and anthropogenic interventions Mapping and quantification of such threats at the landscape level are challenging for experts using traditional techniques however remote sensing technology provides diverse spatial data at a varying scale volume and accessibility for mapping and modelling and it also analyses challenges at urban and landscape levels Together they address challenges at urban and landscape levels to support the Sustainable Development Goals SDGs

Eschatology and Ecology Paul Hang-Sik Cho, 2011-05-01 This book raises the question of why Korean people and Korean Protestant Christians in particular pay so little attention in theory or practice to ecological issues The author argues that there is an important connection or elective affinity between this lack of attention and the otherworldly eschatology that is so dominant within Korean Protestant Christianity Dispensational premillennialism originally imported by American missionaries resonated with traditional religious beliefs in Korea and soon came to dominate much of Korean Protestantism This book argues that this of all forms of millennialism is the most damaging to ecological concerns It also suggests how Korean churches may effectively respond to the ecological challenge

Climate Change Liability and Beyond Jiunn-rong Yeh Sandrine Maljean-Dubois Yann Kerbrat, 2017-01-18 Climate change and its adverse impacts on nature and human society are clearly felt Who should bear the responsibility Should anyone be held liable for grave losses and damages related to climate change In what way and to what extent can these issues be addressed in legal mechanisms both globally and locally Will an international liability regime an ultimate solution Are courts ready for and capable of resolving these disputes that find intricacy of law policy and science To shed light on these issues this book is structured with four main themes on the discussions of climate change liability and related mechanisms They are 1 state liability and responsibility 2 climate change litigation 3 climate change liability and alternatives and 4 dispute resolution and remedies Reflections on the concepts of liability responsibly accountability have provided for nuanced understandings of their functional dynamics in climate change governance Our findings also suggest that International and domestic courts have become a vital player in attribution or distribution of climate change liability In addition to formalistic rights discourse and rigid liability regime a few alternatives such as carbon market insurance mediation or soft law are also finding their ways to ensuring sustainability of climate change governance

Publications Bibliography United States. Environmental Protection Agency,1987 Scientific and Technical Aerospace Reports , Urban Biodiversity and Built Environment Jing Gan,2021-04-20 This book proposes the concept of urban multiple habitats and then analyzes its corresponding classification function and potential supply capability It provides an analysis framework for studying the relationship between urban biodiversity and built environment and for considering the loss of urban habitats caused by high density development It argues that urban biodiversity is a key indicator for assessing urban ecosystem services On this basis the book then presents a case study mainly focusing on wild birds in Shanghai as urban wild birds and their species could be viewed as an essential indicator for evaluating healthy ecosystem of contemporary cities Based on the empirical findings the book proposes an assessment model for urban biodiversity performance and a range of principles strategies and key indicators regarding the optimization of urban planning and design practice to enhance urban biodiversity performance
