Ecology Of Place Planning For Environment Economy And Community:

The Ecology of Place Timothy Beatley, Kristy Manning, 2013-04-22 Current patterns of land use and development are at once socially economically and environmentally destructive Sprawling low density development literally devours natural landscapes while breeding a pervasive sense of social isolation and exacerbating a vast array of economic problems As more and more counties begin to look more and more the same hope for a different future may seem to be fading But alternatives do exist The Ecology of Place Timothy Beatley and Kristy Manning describe a world in which land is consumed sparingly cities and towns are vibrant and green local economies thrive and citizens work together to create places of enduring value They present a holistic and compelling approach to repairing and enhancing communities introducing a vision of sustainable places that extends beyond traditional architecture and urban design to consider not just the physical layout of a development but the broad set of ways in which communities are organized and operate Chapters examine the history and context of current land use problems along with the concept of sustainable places the ecology of place and ecological policies and actions local and regional economic development links between land use and community planning and civic involvement specific recommendations to help move toward sustainability The authors address a variety of policy and development issues that affect a community from its economic base to its transit options to the ways in which its streets and public spaces are managed and examine the wide range of programs policies and creative ideas that can be used to turn the vision of sustainable places into reality The Ecology of Place is a timely resource for planners economic development specialists students and citizen activists working toward establishing healthier and more sustainable patterns of growth and development literacy studies digital rhetoric media studies and discourse analysis Thus this book goes beyond the assumption that rhetorics are situated and challenges us to consider not only how and why they are situated but what we mean when we theorize notions of situated place based rhetorics      Civic Tourism: The Poetry and Politics of Place Dan Shilling,2007 Examines the tourism industry in the light of civic values that go beyond economics to the social and environmental impacts of tourism development exploring ways to develop a responsible tourism ethic      Environmental Science 6e (paper) Daniel D. Chiras,2013      Design with the Desert Richard Malloy,John Brock,Anthony Floyd,Margaret Livingston,Robert H. Webb,2016-04-19 Typical development in the American Southwest often resulted in scraping the desert lands of the ancient living landscape to be replaced with one that is human made and dependent on a large consumption of energy and natural resources This transdisciplinary book explores the natural and built environment of this desert region and introduces development tools for shaping its future in a more sustainable way It offers valuable insights to help promote ecological balance between nature and the built environment in the American Southwest and in other ecologically fragile regions around the world      Growth Management and Public Land Acquisition Christopher Coutts,2016-04-15 Bringing together a team of national experts this volume offers a detailed look at the links between public land acquisition programs and efforts to yield smart growth outcomes in the USA Both public land acquisition programs and state and local growth management efforts have been examined in detail but while there is growing recognition that land acquisition can play an important role in smart growth outcomes there has so far been little research into the nexus of these areas of public policy This book investigates various aspects of the land acquisition smart growth linkage and describes model programs and makes recommendations for the adoption of land acquisition efforts nationally and internationally It will appeal to practising planners policy makers public officials and citizen groups as well as academics of urban planning environmental studies geography and other disciplines which examine issues of urban sprawl      The Sociology of Community Connections John G. Bruhn,2011-07-18 Many of our current social problems have been attributed to the breakdown or loss of community as a place and to the fragmentation of connections due to an extreme value of individualism in the Western world particularly in the United States Not all scholars and researchers agree that individualism and technology are the primary culprits in the loss of community as it existed in the middle decade of the 20th century Nonetheless people exist in groups and connections are vital to their existence and in the daily performance of activities The second edition of the Sociology of Community Connections will identify and help students understand community connectedness in the present and future      Cities as Sustainable Ecosystems Peter Newman,Isabella Jennings,2012-09-26 Modern city dwellers are largely detached from the environmental effects of their daily lives The sources of the water they drink the food they eat and the energy they consume are all but invisible often coming from other continents and their waste ends up in places beyond their city boundaries Cities as Sustainable Ecosystems shows how cities and their residents can begin to reintegrate into their bioregional environment and how cities themselves can be planned with nature's organizing principles in mind Taking cues from living systems for sustainability strategies Newman and Jennings reassess urban design by exploring flows of energy materials and information along with the interactions between human and non human parts of the system Drawing on examples from all corners of the world the authors explore natural patterns and processes that cities can emulate in order to move toward sustainability Some cities have adopted simple strategies such as harvesting rainwater greening roofs and producing renewable energy Others have created biodiversity parks for endangered species community gardens that support a connection to their foodshed and pedestrian friendly spaces that encourage walking and cycling A powerful model for urban redevelopment Cities as Sustainable Ecosystems describes aspects of urban ecosystems from the visioning process to achieving economic security to fostering a sense of place

Linking Architecture and Education Anne Taylor, 2009-05-16 For the past forty years Anne Taylor has studied how schools classrooms playgrounds homes museums and parks affect children and how they learn As a result she has developed a holistic sustainable philosophy of learning environment design She argues persuasively that architects must integrate their design knowledge with an understanding of the developmental needs of learners while at the same time educators parents and students must broaden their awareness of the built natural and cultural environment to maximize the learning experience In other words schools and other environments can themselves become three dimensional textbooks When architects are cognizant of newer models of education and educators view the environment as more than a box in which to teach prescribed lessons the result is an informed architecture that enables children to discover the power of their own learning The book presents numerous examples of dynamic designs that are the result of interdisciplinary understanding of place Taylor includes designer perspectives forums derived from commentary by outside contributors involved in school planning and a wealth of photographs of thoughtful and effective solutions to create learning environments from comprehensive design criteria Because the concept of school is enlarged to a community campus the book also spawns a new model of teaching and learning This book is essential reading for educators architects and community members who are anxious to transform education in America and elsewhere Anne Taylor is the most outstanding educator leading proponent and practitioner in the three dimensional textbook field Her work is the finest resource available for connecting students young and old to their learning environments and visa versa Edward E Kirkbride NCARB REFP Before Western man divided the universe into discrete subject matter areas the order in the universe was and still is both interdisciplinary and holistic The branching of trees spiraling of shells meandering of streams and the radial designs of flowers for example represent an analogy of mathematics biology and art The current artificial separation of subject matter is in contrast to the way the world is constructed and the way children perceive it Architecture and the study of the built natural and cultural environment synthesize the world of material things and the world of ideas Further more it helps us to realize that we are a part of not apart from the environment This book is a tool and a gift to designers educators and students everywhere to assist them in seeing the meaning behind all that we view and use for living on earth To know our precious relationship to our surroundings is the intent of this book In this way life is a work of art and each of us is an artist Anne Taylor
