Entry Strategies For International Markets:

Entry Strategies for International Markets Franklin R. Root, 1998-10-23 Sage Advice on Going Global Root's perspective is extremely insightful and clearly the work of one who knows his topics from personal experience. It encapsulates what some of us have taken decades to learn through trial and error. Larry D. Bouts, president International Division Toys R Us Inc. The North American Free Trade Agreement, the new European common market and the opening of Eastern Europe among other recent geopolitical developments have created unprecedented opportunities for American companies seeking to enter foreign markets. This guide offers executives practical advice, recently updated and expanded on deciding which markets to enter, choosing a product for international distribution, designing an entry strategy and developing an effective international marketing plan.

Market Entry Strategies Viktor Tielmann, 2010-07-29 Research Paper undergraduate from the year 2010 in the subject Business economics Offline Marketing and Online Marketing grade 1.0 University of Applied Sciences Fulda course International Marketing Management language English abstract Globalization has increased the competition amongst firms. There are more and more companies which are motivated to conquer foreign markets and enlarge their presence on these markets. For multiple reasons, companies adopt modes to enter foreign markets and find new channels of distribution. Choosing the right and appropriate market entry strategy has a growing importance. As a matter of fact, companies should align their strategy to their objectives and adapt them to the foreign markets environment. There are numerous different entry strategies which are all linked to different entry modes, different amounts of risks or costs. From the least costly mode to the most expensive one, we distinguish three main strategies. Export is characterized by the transportation of finished goods from one country to another. The distribution on site is done by an intermediary or by foreign based distributors or agents. Joint Venturing includes different characteristics of various joint contracts with firms to produce or promote services or products. Direct investment is when a company decides to invest directly into a foreign country by either establishing an assembly operation, a wholly owned operation as well as a merge or an acquisition. Each of the market entry strategies has both advantages and disadvantages. The less costly the strategy is, the less control the company has over the distribution channel. Consequently, the company depends more or less on foreign institutions or foreign partners. All in all, a company has to figure out for itself which strategy to choose according to its particular situation, financial as well as economical and environmental. Therefore, before entering a market, a previous comprehensive research and analysis of the target market and its economic environment is indispensable to achieve a successful launch into an unknown market.

hunters and hunted winners and losers What counts in global competition is the right strategy and success Heinrich von Pierer¹ In business planning the globalization of the world market and the limits of domestic growth raise the question to what extent a foreign commitment should be considered if at all ² In Germany these considerations are particularly underlined by the strong integration into the world economy German enterprises obtain a third of their total revenue in foreign business 25 % of all jobs depend on foreign trade ³ Contrary to expectations going global is no longer subject only to large multinational companies Due to saturation tendencies in the domestic market global competition and the dependency on international key account customers small and medium sized enterprises SMEs have been faced with the need for international activities ⁴ Considering the fact that SMEs account for 97.3 % of all German enterprises generating almost 45 % of the total revenue per year the importance of future growth potential becomes evident ⁵ In general SMEs are referred to as the backbone of German economy and many of them the so called hidden champions have successfully faced the challenge of entering foreign markets ⁶ Others have been afraid to take this step For these the need for adaptation remains and their continuity will depend on the competitiveness in the world market In general entering new markets is connected with a multiplicity of chances and risks SMEs especially tend to underestimate the importance of profound information and the need for a realistic estimation of own capabilities ⁷ Accordingly it becomes necessary to focus on a SME specific approach which considers major evaluation criteria for carefully developing market entry strategies
