Environment Power And Injustice A South African History:

Environment, Power, and Injustice Nancy J. Jacobs, 2003-06-26 Sample Text □□□□□□□□, 1978 Environmental Infrastructure in African History Emmanuel Kreike, 2013-05-13 Environmental Infrastructure in African History offers a new approach for analyzing and narrating environmental change Environmental change conventionally is understood as occurring in a linear fashion moving from a state of more nature to a state of less nature and more culture In this model non Western and premodern societies live off natural resources whereas more modern societies rely on artifact or nature that is transformed and domesticated through science and technology into culture In contrast Emmanuel Kreike argues that both non Western and premodern societies inhabit a dynamic middle ground between nature and culture He asserts that humans in collaboration with plants animals and other animate and inanimate forces create environmental infrastructure that constantly is remade and reimagined in the face of ongoing processes of change The Environment and World History Edmund Burke, Kenneth Pomeranz, 2009-04-08 In 11 essays the contributors examine the connections between environmental change and other major topics of early modern world history population growth commercialization imperialism industrialization the fossil fuel revolution and more A Companion to Global Environmental History J. R. McNeill, Erin Stewart Mauldin, 2015-05-04 The Companion to Global Environmental History offers multiple points of entry into the history and historiography of this dynamic and fast growing field to provide an essential road map to past developments current controversies and future developments for specialists and newcomers alike Combines temporal geographic thematic and contextual approaches from prehistory to the present day Explores environmental thought and action around the world to give readers a cultural intellectual and political context for engagement with the environment in modern times Brings together environmental historians from around the world including scholars from South Africa Brazil Germany and China

A History of Southern Africa Alois S. Mlambo, Neil Parsons, 2018-09-08 From early human civilisation to today this book illuminates the history of southern Africa Interweaving social cultural and political history archaeology anthropology and environmentalism Neil Parsons and Alois Mlambo provide an engaging account of the region's varied past Placing African voices and agency at centre stage rather than approaching the subject through a colonial lens A History of Southern Africa provides an engrossing narrative of the region This textbook is ideal for both undergraduate and postgraduate students of History and African Studies and will provide an essential grounding for those taking courses in the history of southern Africa Its lively and accessible approach will appeal to anyone with an interest in global history The Ecology of Oil Myrna I. Santiago, 2006-08-14 Publisher Description Environment and Empire William Beinart, Lotte Hughes, 2007-10-11 This volume uncovers the interaction between people and the elements in very different British colonies throughout the world Providing a rich overview of socio environmental change driven by imperial forces this study examines a key global historical process The Green and the Brown Frank Uekötter, 2006-08-14 This study provides the first comprehensive discussion of conservation in Nazi Germany Looking at Germany in an international context it analyses the roots of conservation in the late 19th century the gradual adaptation of racist and nationalist thinking among conservationists in the 1920s and their indifference to the Weimar Republic It describes how the German conservation movement came to cooperate with the Nazi regime and discusses the ideological and institutional lines between the conservation movement and the Nazis Uekoetter further examines how the conservation movement struggled to do away with a troublesome past after World War II making the environmentalists one of the last groups in German society to face up to its Nazi burden It is a story of ideological convergence of tactical alliances of careerism of implication in crimes against humanity and of deceit and denial after 1945 It is also a story that offers valuable lessons for today's environmental movement

Histories of Technology, the Environment and Modern Britain Jon Agar, Jacob Ward, 2018-04-09 Histories of Technology the Environment and Modern Britain brings together historians with a wide range of interests to take a uniquely wide lens view of how technology and the environment have been intimately and irreversibly entangled in Britain over the last 300 years It combines for the first time two perspectives with much to say about Britain since the industrial revolution the history of technology and environmental history Technologies are modified environments just as nature is to varying extents engineered Furthermore technologies and our living and non living environment are both predominant material forms of organisation and self organisation that surround and make us Both have changed over time in intersecting ways Technologies discussed in the collection include bulldozers submarine cables automobiles flood barriers medical devices museum displays and biotechnologies Environments investigated include bogs cities farms places of natural beauty and pollution land and sea The book explores this diversity but also offers an integrated framework for understanding these intersections

Empire of Timber Erik Loomis, 2016 This is the first book to center labor unions as actors in American environmental policy

Nature and History in Modern Italy Marco Armiero, Marcus Hall, 2010-08-15 Is Italy il bel paese the beautiful country where tourists spend their vacations looking for art history and scenery Or is it a land whose beauty has been cursed by humanity's greed and nature's cruelty The answer is largely a matter of narrative and the narrator's vision of Italy The fifteen essays in Nature and History in Modern Italy investigate that nation's long experience in managing domesxadtixadcatd rather than wild nature's and offer insight into these conflicting visions Italians shaped their land in the most literal sense producing the landscape sculpting its heritage embedding memory in nature and rendering the two different visions inseparxadable The interplay of Italy's rich human history and its dramatic natural diversity is a subject with broad appeal to a wide range of readers

Pipe Dreams Maya K. Peterson, 2019-05-23 A long environmental history of the Aral Sea region focusing on colonization and development in Russian and Soviet Central Asia

Across Forest, Steppe, and Mountain David A. Bello, 2016-02-04 In this book David Bello offers a new and radical interpretation of how China's last dynasty the Qing 1644 1911 relied on the interrelationship between ecology and ethnicity to incorporate the country's far flung borderlands into the dynasty's expanding empire. The dynasty tried to manage the sustainable survival and compatibility of discrete borderland ethnic regimes in Manchuria, Inner Mongolia and Yunnan within a corporatist Han Chinese imperial political order. This unprecedented imperial unification resulted in the great human and ecological diversity that exists today. Using natural science literature in conjunction with underutilized and new sources in the Manchu language, Bello demonstrates how Qing expansion and consolidation of empire was dependent on a precise and intense manipulation of regional environmental relationships. The Nature of Disaster in China Chris Courtney, 2018-02-15. Unearths the forgotten history of a catastrophic flood, examining its profound impact upon the environment and society of modern China. The Rise and Fall of Modern Empires, Volume II Saul Dubow, 2016-12-05. This volume reproduces key historical texts concerning colonial knowledges. The use of the adjective colonial indicates that knowledge is shaped by power relationships, while the use of the plural form knowledges indicates the emphasis in this collection is on an interplay between different, often competing, cognitive systems. George Balandier's notion of the colonial situation is an organising principle that runs throughout the volume, and there are four sub-themes: language and texts, categorical knowledge, the circulation of knowledge, and indigenous knowledge. The volume is designed to introduce students to a range of important interventions which speak to each other today, even if they were not intended to do so when first published. An introductory essay links the themes together and explains the significance of the individual articles. Empire and Ecology in the Bengal Delta Debjani Bhattacharyya, 2018-05-24. What happens when a distant colonial power tries to tame an unfamiliar terrain in the world's largest tidal delta? This history of dramatic ecological changes in the Bengal Delta from 1760 to 1920 involves land, water, and humans, tracing the stories and struggles that link them together. Pushing beyond narratives of environmental decline, Bhattacharyya argues that property thinking, a governing tool critical in making land and water discrete categories of bureaucratic and legal management, was at the heart of colonial urbanization and the technologies behind the draining of Calcutta. The story of ecological change is narrated alongside emergent practices of land speculation and transformation in colonial law. Bhattacharyya demonstrates how this history continues to shape our built environments with devastating consequences, as shown in the Bay of Bengal's receding coastline. What is Environmental History? J. Donald Hughes, 2016-01-11. What is environmental history? It is a kind of history that seeks understanding of human beings as they have lived, worked, and thought in relationship to the rest of nature through the changes brought by time. In this new edition of his seminal student textbook, J. Donald Hughes provides a masterful overview of the thinker's topics and perspectives that have come to constitute the exciting discipline that is environmental history. He does so on a global scale, drawing together disparate trends from a rich variety of countries into a unified whole, illuminating trends and key themes in the process. Those already familiar with the discipline will find themselves invited to think about the subject in a new way. This new edition has been updated to reflect recent developments, trends, and new work in environmental history, as well as a brand new note on its possible future Students and scholars new to environmental history will find the book both an indispensable guide and a rich source of inspiration for future work

Landscape, Environment and Technology in Colonial and Postcolonial Africa

Toyin Falola, Emily Brownell, 2013-03-01 This volume seeks to identify and examine two categories of colonial and postcolonial knowledge production about Africa These two broad categories are environment and landscape and both are useful and problematic to explore Discussions about African environments often concentrate on Africans as perpetrators of their own land causing degradation from lack of knowledge and technology Landscape defines the category of knowledge produced by foreigners about Africa where Africans remain part of the scenery and yield no agency over their surroundings To flesh out these categories and explore their creation and how they have been deployed to shape colonial and postcolonial discourses on Africa this volume investigates the technological pastoral the points of convergence and conflict between Western notions of pastoral Africa and the introduction of colonial technology scientific ideas and commodification of land and animals

Deforestation and Reforestation in Namibia Emmanuel Kreike, 2009-10-26 Descriptions of the late 1800s landscape in the Ovambo floodplain in north central Namibia closely match the area s late 1900s appearance suggesting that little change occurred between the pre colonial baseline and the postcolonial outcome Yet paradoxically colonial conquest population pressure biological invasions new technology and economic globalization caused both dramatic deforestation and reforestation in less than a century The paradox stems from the fact that the prevailing global environmental models obscure and homogenize the process of environmental change different and contradictory interpretations are dismissed as alternative readings or misreadings of the same process Deforestation and Reforestation however argues that the paradox highlights the need to reframe environmental change as plural processes occurring along multiple trajectories that may be dissynchronized and asymmetrical
