The Balancing of Interests in Environmental Law in Africa Willemien Du Plessis,2011 Now that economic development is starting to pick up in many countries in Africa the question arises how such development can be balanced with the need for adequate environmental protection This crucial issue inherent in the notion of sustainable development is addressed in this innovative and path breaking volume For the first time academics from seventeen African countries have joined forces to analyse the way in which economic and environmental interests are balanced in their legal systems The authors all use a common framework to improve the comparability of the country studies The different country related chapters do not only provide insights into the formally applicable legal rules law in the books but given that the book brings together academics aware of the practice in Africa they also describe the way in which environmental policy functions in practice law in action Many case studies with conceptual analyses are provided of pollution incidents and the way in which administrative agencies or courts have on those occasions balanced the interests between the economy society and the environment A critical comparative analysis by the editors points at tendencies towards convergence and points of divergence between the African countries Suggestions for policy reform are also formulated showing African countries how they can benefit from experiences in the US and Europe This thought provoking volume is a must for anyone academic policymaker or practitioner interested in sustainable development generally and in Africa in particular P 4 of cover

Climate Change and Tourism in Southern Africa Jarkko Saarinen,Jennifer Fitchett,Gijsbert Hoogendoorn,2022-03-30 This book explores the nature of climate change in southern Africa its impacts on tourism and the resilience adaptation and governance needs in various tourism operations and environments Previous studies on climate change and tourism have mainly focused on the Global North and specific forms of tourism such as snow based winter activities Drawing on case studies from a wide range of countries including South Africa Lesotho Namibia Botswana and Zimbabwe this book fills this lacuna by describing and analysing the climate change and tourism nexus in the southern African context The book begins by providing an overview of the current and estimated impacts of climate change to the tourism industry in the region highlighting the deepening socio economic inequities and environmental and social injustices It focuses on the importance of sustainable tourism in tackling these issues and highlights that resilience and robust governance and policy systems are essential for a tourism destination to successfully adapt to change By synthesising the key lessons learned through this analysis Climate Change and Tourism in Southern Africa also draws attention to specific adaptation and policy strategies which have value for other regions in the Global South This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of climate change tourism and environmental policy and justice Diversity in Environmental Education Research ,2009-01-01

Research in environmental education EE is a growing field of inquiry and should be seen as respondent to a variety of program developments around the world These diverse programs are the context for this body of educational research Diversity in EE research is also compounded when one considers the various cultures epistemologies and research traditions that may inform the field This complexity accounts for the range of forms for environmental learning in formal informal or non formal contexts There is a good deal of evidence that in order to be more responsive to the needs of diverse populations program developments around the world are now beginning to reflect the variation in our society However the same cannot always be said in terms of research methodologies within mainstream environmental education research Outside of a few examples there seems to have been very little in the way of development of research genres aimed at understanding characterizing and supporting cultural diversity within much of mainstream environmental education Diversity of method may also be important for the overall quality or health of environmental education research To locate many of the new ideas and approaches in this area one needs to look outside environmental education towards general educational research or to other fields such as environmental justice indigenous education science education and health education to name only a few examples This volume of original research reports from around the globe begins to richly describe aspects of diversity in environmental education research It does so in two ways first it mirrors the diversity of voices and cultures that are conducting research in this ever broadening and increasingly global and international field of inquiry second it illuminates a potential diversity of research methods by highlighting a range of methodologies salient in other fields which have emerging promise for the practice of research in environmental education Directory of Country Environmental Studies ,1993

A Suggested Curriculum Framework for Environmental Studies in the Primary Schools of Mauritius Premchand Saddul, The Oxford Handbook of the Mauritian Economy ,2025-02-24 The Oxford Handbook on the Mauritian Economy presents a comprehensive analysis of the economic social and political landscape of the island offering a nuanced exploration of its historical evolution current challenges and future prospects Adopting a multidisciplinary lens the handbook delves into the complexities of the Mauritian economy addressing the development pathway of the country through a focus on the process of structural transformation namely the transition from an agrarian based economy to a diversified one across sectors like manufacturing information and communication technology tourism and financial services amongst others It analyzes the process of economic transformations while encompassing social change and social policies with particular attention to key issues of inequality education health care social protection poverty alleviation and social inclusion and it delves further into the dynamics of cultural change demographic shifts and the role of policies in shaping the social fabric of the island Amid the perceived success of the Mauritian economy this handbook confronts the challenges that the island faces in terms of the complexities of globalization disparities in income and opportunities and climate change as well as other recent crises that affect its resilience to external shocks It contributes not only to wider scholarly debates on economic development but also presents a valuable resource for policymakers and practitioners seeking an in depth understanding of the economic and policy intricacies that define Mauritius transformative development trajectory International
