The Destruction of the Bison Andrew C. Isenberg, 2020-03-26 For the last twenty years The Destruction of the Bison has been an essential work in environmental history Andrew C Isenberg offers a concise analysis of the near extinction of the North American bison population from an estimated 30 million in 1800 to fewer than 1000 a century later His wide ranging interdisciplinary study carefully considers the multiple causes cultural and ecological of the destruction of the species The twentieth anniversary edition includes a new foreword connecting this seminal work to developments in the field notably new perspectives in Native American history and the rise of transnational history and placing the story of the bison in global context A new afterword extends the study to the twenty first century underlining the continued importance of this ground breaking text for current and future students and scholars Foresight in Action Marjolein van Asselt, Susan van 't Klooster, Philip van Notten, Livia A. Smits, 2012-06-25 Assessing the future is vital in informing public policy decisions One of the most widespread approaches is the development of scenarios which are alternative hypothetical futures Research has indicated however that the reality of how professionals go about employing scenarios is often starkly at odds with the theory a finding that has important ramifications for how the resulting images of the future should be interpreted It also shows the need for rewriting and updating theory This book based on an intensive five year study of how experts actually go about assessing the future provides a groundbreaking examination of foresighting in action Obtained via ethnographic techniques the results lay bare for the first time the real processes by which scenarios are made It is also the first book to examine foresighting for public policy which is so often overlooked in favour of business practice From handling of discontinuity to historical determinism the analysis reveals and explains why foresight is difficult and what the major pitfalls are Each chapter ends with a toolkit of recommendations for practice The book aims to help readers to reflect on their own practices of public oriented foresight and thus to foster a deeper understanding of the key principles and challenges Ultimately this will lead to better informed decision making Methods for Sustainability Research Janette Hartz-Karp, Dora Marinova, 2017-07-28 This book offers a collection of methods and approaches aimed at resolving some of humanity's most pressing problems on a local and global level Many of the methods are practical with straightforward application and demonstrated positive outcomes whilst others are more visionary Important for transitioning to a more sustainable world these methods allow for the constructive challenging of existing western development and governance Weathering Change United States. A rapid geospatial analysis of the flood impacts on crops in KwaZulu-Natal and Eastern Cape provinces of South Africa in 2022 Ghosh, A., Mushtaq, F., Jalal, R., Henry, M., Adhikari, S., Hove, L., Kassa, S., Gauny, J., Barelli, D., Merzouk, Q., Moloinyane, S., Muchoney, D.,2022-08-18 South Africa is the southern most country on the African continent with the 121 309 ha of land area and highly dependent on agriculture sector 79 percent of agricultural land area for food income and employment Natural disasters like drought floods storms cyclones etc causes significant socio economic damages and losses as well as negatively impacting the agricultural sector From 11 13 April 2022 heavy rainfall caused severe flooding and landslides affecting the south and south eastern part of South Africa Particularly in the Provinces of KwaZulu Natal and Eastern Cape authorities reported loss of lives infrastructure damages and inundated cropland Disaster Charter 755 was activated for South Africa From 19 20 April moderate rainfall was forecast over north eastern South Africa while no heavy rainfall was expected over the already affected Provinces. In this context the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations FAO Geospatial Unit of the Land and Water Division NSL with support from SFS REOSA conducted a rapid geospatial assessment on crops and the exposure of rural people during the period 10-20 April 2022. This assessment provides information at the district, local municipalities and ward levels in the area of interest (AOI). This analysis combines Sentinel 1 S1 Synthetic Aperture Radar (SAR) and Sentinel 2 S2 imagery both at a 10 m spatial resolution with Planet imagery 5 m spatial resolution and 2020 population data from WorldPop 100 m spatial resolution to determine 1 flood extent, 2 cropland area, 3 flooded crop area and 4 exposure of population to flooded cropland. The results are provided in the form of maps by administrative units and tabular with descriptive statistics for the aforementioned indicators. With recent advances in geospatial and information technologies and updated land cover maps, crop specific information adapted to national conditions with tailored field campaigns have the potential to better support response programmes and agricultural development in the future. The key findings from this rapid assessment are that for Area of Interest (AOI) 1 total flooded area in the Province of Eastern Cape is 373 868 ha and in the Province of KwaZulu Natal is 137 601 ha, 2 total cropland area estimated in Area of Interest is 1 386 941 ha, 3 overall inundated cropland is 51 601 ha, 4 percent of the total land in AOI and 4 the most affected districts in respect to people exposure to floods are Cacadu 54 616.

Community Gardening as Social Action Claire Nettle, 2016-05-23. There has been a resurgence of community gardening over the past decade with a wide range of actors seeking to get involved from health agencies aiming to increase fruit and vegetable consumption to radical social movements searching for symbols of non-capitalist ways of relating and occupying space. Community gardens have become a focal point for local activism in which people are working to contribute to food security, question the erosion of public space, conserve and improve urban environments, develop technologies of sustainable food production, foster community engagement and create neighbourhood solidarity. Drawing on in-depth case studies and social movement theory, Claire Nettle provides a new empirical and theoretical understanding of community gardening as a site of collective social action. This provides not only a more nuanced and complete understanding of community gardening but also highlights its potential challenges to notions of activism, community democracy and culture.

Environmental Science Daniel D. Chiras, 2006. Completely updated, the seventh edition of Environmental Science enlightens students on the fundamental causes of the current environmental crisis and offers ideas on how we as a global community can create a sustainable future.
