Unconditional Love Tulku Thondup, 2015-04-21 The unconditional love that we all long for can be experienced in the practice of loving kindness In this popular form of meditation the love inherent to our own nature is gradually expanded until it embraces infinite beings Tulku Thondup introduces a new four stage format for this practice rooted in the traditional teachings of Tibetan Buddhism We first meditate on the Buddha of Loving Kindness as a body of unconditional love and receive his blessings This spontaneously awakens his unconditional love in our heart We then find the whole world reflecting back to us as a world of love and peace Finally we remain in oneness in the realization of ultimate love Food of Sinful

Demons Geoffrey Barstow,2017-10-24 Tibetan Buddhism teaches compassion toward all beings a category that explicitly includes animals Slaughtering animals is morally problematic at best and at worst completely incompatible with a religious lifestyle Yet historically most Tibetans both monastic and lay have made meat a regular part of their diet In this study of the place of vegetarianism within Tibetan religiosity Geoffrey Barstow explores the tension between Buddhist ethics and Tibetan cultural norms to offer a novel perspective on the spiritual and social dimensions of meat eating Food of Sinful Demons shows the centrality of vegetarianism to the cultural history of Tibet through specific ways in which nonreligious norms and ideals shaped religious beliefs and practices Barstow offers a detailed analysis of the debates over meat eating and vegetarianism from the first references to such a diet in the tenth century through the Chinese invasion in the 1950s He discusses elements of Tibetan Buddhist thought including monastic vows the Buddhist call to compassion and tantric antinomianism that see meat eating as morally problematic He then looks beyond religious attitudes to examine the cultural economic and environmental factors that oppose the Buddhist critique of meat including Tibetan concepts of medicine and health food scarcity the display of wealth and idealized male gender roles Barstow argues that the issue of meat eating was influenced by a complex interplay of factors with religious perspectives largely supporting vegetarianism while practical concerns and secular ideals pulled in the other direction He concludes by addressing the surge in vegetarianism in contemporary Tibet in light of evolving notions of Tibetan identity and resistance against the central Chinese state The first book to discuss this complex issue Food of Sinful Demons is essential reading for scholars interested in Tibetan religion history and culture as well as global food history The Three Levels of Spiritual Perception Kun-dga'-bstan-pa'i-ñi-ma
