Beating Burnout in Congregations Lynne M. Baab, 2003-08-01 I can only shake my head in the face of the irony that all too often the very place where we look for life and health the very place where we expect to nurture and deepen a loving relationship with God can cause so many to experience the exact opposite So remarks author Lynne Baab in this timely and discerning examination of burnout in congregations What is burnout What causes congregation volunteers to burn out Why is unpaid service sometimes life giving and other times just another frantic commitment How can congregations become oases of peace and nurture while still carrying out their mission and ministry How can we recognize holy moments in the presence of God if we are moving so fast that life passes by us in a blur How can leaders make congregations healthy places to serve After reflecting on these important questions and dozens of interviews with congregation volunteers Baab suggests We must not fear burnout instead we need to do a better job coming alongside people as they experience burnout and help them figure out what they are learning

The Lioness Tale Diane Pendola, 2005-06 The Lioness Tale inspired by ancient storytelling traditions addresses the problems of living under conditions that are hostile or indifferent to the inner life How easy it is to identify with the Lioness of this tale We know what it is to long for the intimacy of a caring voice to be embraced by someone who believes that our happiness and our humanness are important In this work of visionary fiction there are lessons that will change your life Just as the author has dared much in the telling you must dare much in the reading You ll share the grief of the Lioness loss both of love and her own freedom But the reward you ll share is renewed inner strength and a sense of vulnerability by which you will get back your own life and celebrate it Hal Zina Bennett Ph D lecturer consultant and author
