LEARNING ENRICHMENT

Treat me, with happiness

What is enrichment

Enrichment is the action of improving or enhancing the quality or value of something. Enrichment for your pet is providing activities and environments to look after your pets well-being. To fill their buckets, focusing on fun and not the end result. Avoid time-limits and provide ways to fulfill natural behaviors like foraging, shredding, hunting, chewing etc, as well as a safe space for relaxation and sniffing.

Here at Happypet we are all about our pets happiness. This includes enrichment. We are here to help meet those needs with all natural chews, supplements and treats for an innovative and stimulating food adventure for your pet. Our product range works well with pet enrichment toys like lick/snuffle mats, enrichment boxes, tricks/games and more.

Happypet | enriching mutual affection since 2006.

What is frustration

Frustration is the opposite of enrichment. Frustration arises from unmet needs and boredom, highlighting the importance of engaging activities for overall pet well-being and happiness. Help your dog or make activities easier to prevent frustration and challenge them appropriately. Increase and decrease levels alongside your dog. Most dogs prefer small wins and tiny challenges.

Notes

Ensure your pet is supervised at all times
