

Environmental Birth Defects

Most substances are filtered by the placenta

There are some exceptions

- Some virus (HIV)
- Some bacteria (Syphilis)
- Alcohol, cocaine, other drugs

Fetal Alcohol Syndrome is the most common cause of mental retardation in the US)

The effect of those substances will depend of the structure developing at the time and the dose.

Some birth defects have being associated with malnutrition/ vitamin deficiency (Spina bifida)

Kyle,Onyemaechi Nweke,2003 Noting that children may be affected by environmental contaminants in ways quite different from the way adults are affected this report is the second on trends in measures reflecting environmental factors that may affect the U S children s health and well being A list of measures and key findings begins the report followed by five main sections Several measures throughout the report are analyzed by children s race ethnicity and family income Section 1 presents measures showing incidence of exposure to critical concentrations of contaminants in outdoor air indoor air water food and soil Section 2 presents measures of lead mercury and cotinine marker of environmental tobacco smoke exposure measured in the bodies of children and women Section 3 presents trends in asthma other severe respiratory illnesses childhood cancers and neurodevelopmental disorders such as attention deficit hyperactivity disorder and mental retardation Section 4 concerns the emerging issues of mercury in fish and attention deficit hyperactivity disorder Section 5 presents data specific to California and Minnesota The final section of the report discusses improvements in the measures and data sources and new measures for inclusion in future reports Major findings presented in the report include declines throughout the 1990s in the percentage of days with unhealthy air quality median blood lead levels for children under 5 and median blood levels of cotinine and overall increases in the percentage of children with asthma The frequency of new childhood cancer cases has been stable since 1990 Recent data indicate that 6 percent of children are diagnosed with mental retardation and 6 7 percent of children are diagnosed with attention deficit hyperactivity disorder State data revealed that 32 percent of California public elementary schools have deterioration of lead based paint and 47 percent of Minnesota schools sprayed pesticides in classrooms A glossary of terms completes the report Four appendices include data tables and a list of environmental health objectives in the Energy Protection Agency s strategic plan Each report section contains references KB      EPA's 2008 Report on the Environment ,2008 The report provides the American people with an important resource from which they can better understand trends in the condition of the air water land and human health of the United States This report uses scientifically sound measures called indicators to address fundamental questions relevant to the EPA s mission to protect the environment and human health To accomplish its mission to protect human health and the environment EPA must pay close attention to trends in the condition of the Nation s environment This kind of information which is captured in EPA s 2008 ROE can help EPA to prioritize its work and to focus on human health and ecological activities that can lead to improvements in the conditions of the Nation s environment      Our Global Environment Anne Nadakavukaren,Jack Caravanos,2020-01-23 Our Global Environment regarded for decades as the quintessential introduction to environ mental health for its authoritative coverage and cogent prose provides a richly detailed survey of current environmental issues. In compelling language Anne Nadakavukaren and new coauthor Jack Caravanos describe the crucial interdependence between humans and their environment exploring the varied ways in which human activities have impacted degraded or altered the environment and the consequences to both natural ecosystems and human health and well being. The eighth edition features a new chapter on climate change and the public health impacts of global warming incorporating the latest assessments of the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change with regard to the physical science basis mitigation efforts and adaptation strategies. Extensive revisions and updates throughout the volume reflect current topics of concern including the magnitude of global hunger and malnutrition outbreaks of the Zika virus vaping and the incidence of serious lung injury MTBE contamination of groundwater recycling of lead acid batteries in developing countries mercury exposure among artisanal gold miners and lead contaminated drinking water in Flint Michigan and other communities. Readers will appreciate the addition of 16 pages of color images as well as the authors emphasis on opportunities for public participation in the decision making processes that profoundly influence health and environmental quality.

Health Impacts of Developmental Exposure to Environmental Chemicals Reiko Kishi, Philippe Grandjean, 2019-12-13 This book provides concise and cutting edge studies on threats resulting from exposure to environmental chemicals that can affect human health and development with a particular emphasis on the DOHaD concept. The book is divided into five main parts the first of which includes an introduction to the impacts of developmental exposure to environmental chemicals and historical perspectives while the second focuses on how environmental chemicals can affect human organs including neurodevelopment immune functions etc. In turn the third part addresses the characteristics of specific chemicals and their effects on human health and development while the fourth part provides a basis for future studies by highlighting the latest innovations in toxicology remaining challenges and promising strategies in children s environmental health research as well as ideas on how to bridge the gap between research evidence and practical policymaking. The fifth and last part outlines further research directions and related policymaking aspects. Health Impacts of Developmental Exposure to Environmental Chemicals will appeal to young and veteran researchers students and physicians especially gynecologists and pediatricians who are seeking comprehensive information on how children s health can be affected by harmful chemicals and other environmental toxicants.
