Environmental History Volume 6 Number 3:

Varieties of Environmentalism Ramachandra Guha, Joan Martínez Alier, 2013-10-11 Until very recently studies of the environmental movement have been heavily biased towards the North Atlantic worlds. There was a common assumption amongst historians and sociologists that concerns over such issues as conservation or biodiversity were the exclusive preserve of the affluent westerner, the ultimate luxury of the consumer society. Citizens of the world's poorest countries ran the conventional wisdom had nothing to gain from environmental concerns; they were too poor to be green and were attending to the more urgent business of survival. Yet strong environmental movements have sprung up over recent decades in some of the poorest countries in Asia and Latin America, albeit with origins and forms of expression quite distinct from their western counterparts. In Varieties of Environmentalism, Guha and Martínez Alier seek to articulate the values and orientation of the environmentalism of the poor and to explore the conflicting priorities of South and North that were so dramatically highlighted at the Rio Earth Summit in 1992. Essays on the ecology of affluence are also included, placing in context such uniquely western phenomena as the cult of wilderness and the environmental justice movement. Using a combination of archival and field data, the book presents analyses of environmental conflicts and ideologies in four continents: North and South America, Asia and Europe. The authors present the nature and history of environmental movements in quite a new light, one which clarifies the issues and the processes behind them. They also provide reappraisals for three seminal figures: Gandhi, Georgescu-Roegen and Mumford, whose legacy may yet contribute to a greater cross-cultural understanding within the environmental movements.

The History of the GPU - Eras and Environment Jon Peddie, 2023-01-01 This is the second book in a three-part series that traces the development of the GPU, which is defined as a single chip with an integrated transform and lighting. The GPU was ready to emerge. Several of the companies involved did produce an integrated GPU, but not until early 2000. This is the account of those companies, the GPU and the environment needed to support it. The GPU has become ubiquitous and can be found in every platform that involves a computer and a user interface.

Speaking with Nature Norman Wirzba, 2024-10-29 From one of the world's leading historians comes the first substantial study of environmentalism set in any country outside the Euro-American world. By the canons of orthodox social science, countries like India are not supposed to have an environmental consciousness. They are, as it were, too poor to be green. In this deeply researched book, Ramachandra Guha challenges this narrative by revealing a virtually unknown prehistory of the global movement set far outside Europe or America. Long before the publication of Rachel Carson's Silent Spring and well before climate change, ten remarkable individuals wrote with deep insight about the dangers of environmental abuse from within an Indian context. In strikingly contemporary language, Rabindranath Tagore, Radhakamal Mukerjee, J. C. Kumarappa, Patrick Geddes, Albert and Gabrielle Howard, Mira Verrier, Elwin, K. M. Munshi and M. Krishnan wrote about the forest and the wild soil and water, urbanization and industrialization. Posing the idea of what Guha calls 'livelihood environmentalism in contrast to the full stomach environmentalism of the affluent world these writers activists and scientists played a pioneering role in shaping global conversations about humanity's relationship with nature Spanning more than a century of Indian history and decidedly transnational in reference this book offers rich resources for considering the threat of climate change today

Eden and the Fall - the Fallacies of Radical Ecological History, 1999 Radical ecology claims to be a new movement at the cutting edge of social change offering a solution to current social and ecological problems through the rejection of reformist ecological politics in favour of a radical restructuring of industrial and especially Western society The claim to have discovered the historical cause of current ecological and social problems plays a key role in validating this radical approach Although numerous interpretations of the historical origins of existing social and ecological problems exist within radical ecology three main variants have been identified This thesis critically examines the three main variants of radical ecological history the belief in primal harmony the belief in the civilisation of the goddess and its destruction by a Kurgan invasion and the view that the rise of capitalism and the mechanistic world view was responsible for the ecological and social crises of today In so doing it also examines a number of key questions central to radical ecological history when did violence and hierarchy begin in human history is it possible to argue that today's ecological crisis has a religious cause and can the scientific technological and commercial revolutions be truly described as purely Western phenomena The main findings of this thesis are that each of these variants of radical ecological history is chronically flawed In addition to numerous empirical errors each of these historical interpretations is based on an extremely simplistic Eurocentric reading of the past based on the use of archetypal stereotypes of good and evil that have little or no historical foundation While these interpretations of history vary profoundly they are all based on the same underlying model of history whose origins lie in the Judeo Christian apocalyptic tradition and ultimately in Zoroastrianism While some of the flaws of radical ecological history are a result of poor scholarship it is argued that it is the use of t

History of India Michael H. Fisher, 2018-10-18 India Pakistan and Bangladesh contain one fifth of humanity are home to many biodiversity hotspots and are among the nations most subject to climatic stresses By surveying their environmental history we can gain major insights into the causes and implications of the Indian subcontinent's current conditions This accessible new survey begins roughly 100 million years ago when continental drift moved India from the South Pole and across the Indian Ocean forming the Himalayan Mountains and creating monsoons Coverage continues to the twenty first century taking readers beyond independence from colonial rule The new nations of India Pakistan and Bangladesh have produced rising populations and have stretched natural resources even as they have become increasingly engaged with climate change To understand the region's current and future pressing issues Michael H Fisher argues that we must engage with the long and complex history of interactions among its people land climate flora and fauna Managing the Unknown

Frank Uekötter, Uwe Lübken, 2014-03-01 Information is crucial when it comes to the management of resources But what if knowledge is incomplete or biased or otherwise deficient How did people define patterns of proper use in the absence of cognitive certainty Discussing this challenge for a diverse set of resources from fish to rubber these essays show that deficient knowledge is a far more pervasive challenge in resource history than conventional readings suggest Furthermore environmental ignorance does not inevitably shrink with the march of scientific progress these essays suggest more of a dialectical relationship between knowledge and ignorance that has different shapes and trajectories With its combination of empirical case studies and theoretical reflection the essays make a significant contribution to the interdisciplinary debate on the production and resilience of ignorance At the same time this volume combines insights from different continents as well as the seas in between and thus sketches outlines of an emerging global resource history Environmental History in the Pacific World J.R. McNeill,2022-03-01 This volume brings together a set of key articles from the last 30 years pertaining to the environmental history of the Pacific basin It aims to treat the islands and waters of the Pacific as well as the lands around the Rim from New Zealand to Japan to California to Chile and is the first work of environmental history to take this inclusive view of the Pacific basin The focus is mainly on recent centuries but as environmental history requires at times the work also takes the very long view of millennia Several of the articles seek to bring a broad Pacific perspective to bear on their subjects while others use Pacific basin examples to try to establish broader theoretical points of interest to all who are drawn to the study of the interactions between nature and culture The book includes a bibliography of Pacific basin environmental history and an introduction that aims to sketch the contours and possible future directions of the field A Venetian Island Lidia D. Sciamia,2005-12-01 Since the extensive floods of 1966 inhabitants of Venice s laguna areas have come to share in and reflect upon concerns over pressing environmental problems Evidence of damage caused by industrial pollution has contributed to the need to recover a common culture and establish a sense of continuity with truly Venetian traditions Based on ethnographic and archival data this in depth study of the Venetian island of Burano shows how its inhabitants develop their sense of a distinct identity on the basis of their notions of gender honor and kinship relations their common memories their knowledge and love of their environment and their special skills in fishing and lace making Clinical and Practical Paediatrics - E-Book Harish Pemde,Vikram Datta,Kamlesh Harish,2022-03-10 This invaluable reference is designed to fulfill the immediate need of undergraduates and residents to learn the nuances of case presentation examination and viva voce in a simple and concise manner It provides most aspects of clinical and practical paediatrics with the required understanding of various important and common diseases in children through real cases Updated and mapped content as per the latest clinical guidelines and competency based curriculum Describes clinical aspects appropriate investigations and management in a concise manner for easy retention and reference during the clinical exam A chapter on COVID 19 in children Includes new topics on EEG ECG echocardiography and CT MRI in an easy to learn format Provides communication strategies for counseling the patients or families Enhances practical learning of paediatrics through Charts on growth in children blood pressure and neonatal resuscitation Chapters on X rays laboratory reports including those of EEG echocardiography CT and MRI drug doses and instruments Added many pictures tables boxes and flow diagrams to enable easy registration and recall of the clinical aspects Complimentary digital resources available on MedEnact Empire and Environmental Anxiety J. Beattie,2011-05-25 A new interpretation of imperialism and environmental change and the anxieties imperialism generated through environmental transformation and interaction with unknown landscapes Tying together South Asia and Australasia this book demonstrates how environmental anxieties led to increasing state resource management conservation and urban reform Built Environment ,1985 Knowing Manchuria Ruth Rogaski,2022-09-01 Making sense of nature in one of the world's most contested borderlands According to Chinese government reports hundreds of plague infected rodents fell from the skies over Gannan county on an April night in 1952 Chinese scientists determined that these flying voles were not native to the region but were vectors of germ warfare dispatched over the border by agents of imperialism Mastery of biology had become a way to claim political mastery over a remote frontier Beginning with this bizarre incident from the Korean War Knowing Manchuria places the creation of knowledge about nature at the center of our understanding of a little known but historically important Asian landscape At the intersection of China Russia Korea and Mongolia Manchuria is known as a site of war and environmental extremes where projects of political control intersected with projects designed to make sense of Manchuria's multiple environments Covering more than 500 000 square miles Manchuria's landscapes include temperate rainforests deserts prairies cultivated plains wetlands and Siberian taiga With analysis spanning the seventeenth century to the present day Ruth Rogaski reveals how an array of historical actors Chinese poets Manchu shamans Russian botanists Korean mathematicians Japanese bacteriologists American paleontologists and indigenous hunters made sense of the Manchurian frontier She uncovers how natural knowledge and thus the nature of Manchuria itself changed over time from a sacred land where the dragon arose to a global epicenter of contagious disease from a tragic wasteland to an abundant granary that nurtured the hope of a nation

The Nature of German Imperialism Bernhard Gissibl, 2016-07-01 Today the East African state of Tanzania is renowned for wildlife preserves such as the Serengeti National Park the Ngorongoro Conservation Area and the Selous Game Reserve Yet few know that most of these initiatives emerged from decades of German colonial rule This book gives the first full account of Tanzanian wildlife conservation up until World War I focusing upon elephant hunting and the ivory trade as vital factors in a shift from exploitation to preservation that increasingly excluded indigenous Africans Analyzing the formative interactions between colonial governance and the natural world The Nature of German Imperialism situates East African wildlife policies within the global emergence of conservationist sensibilities around 1900

Disrupted Landscapes Stefan Dorondel, 2016-03-01 The fall of the Soviet Union was a transformative event for the national political economies of Eastern Europe leading not only to new regimes of ownership and development but to dramatic changes in the natural world itself This painstakingly researched volume focuses on the emblematic case of postsocialist Romania in which the transition from collectivization to privatization profoundly reshaped the nation's forests farmlands and rivers From bureaucrats abetting illegal deforestation to peasants opposing government agricultural policies it reveals the social and political mechanisms by which neoliberalism was introduced into the Romanian landscape
