Strategic Sustainable Procurement Colleen Theron, Malcolm Dowden, 2017-09-08 Procurement is playing an increasingly strategic role as a lever for sustainable development and social and environmental responsibility Greater regulation on sustainable procurement in the public sector including significant changes to the EU Directive in April 2014 are driving this change This comprehensive guide to sustainable procurement by practising legal experts Colleen Theron and Malcolm Dowden distils key developments in EU and UK public sustainable procurement legislation government guidance and policy provides an introduction to sustainable procurement more broadly provides case studies and practical examples on contractual aspects of procurement shows you how to set up a sustainable procurement strategy and contributes to the development of sustainable procurement policy There is also increased emphasis on clean supply chains in the private sector as best practice seeks to mesh with public sector requirements and reduce the risk that bids for public contracts might be undermined by adverse environmental impacts or social misconduct along the supply chain Private sector companies should act now to establish best practice sustainable procurement principles to minimize the risk of litigation several international standards are embedding the principles of sustainable procurement into their requirements The book also offers practical

examples of what sustainable procurement entails whether the organization is bidding for public sector contracts in need of meeting tender requirements looking to obtain certification for a standard or is simply seeking to improve its supply chain management and implement best practice

Cost and EU Public Procurement Law Marta Andhov, Roberto Caranta, Anja Wiesbrock, 2019-09-19 Public institutions companies and governments in the EU and around the world are increasingly engaging in sustainable public procurement a broad concept that must consider the three pillars of economic equality social welfare and public health and environmental responsibility when designing public tenders and finalizing government contracts This book contributes to the development of life cycle criteria tools and methodologies for public procurement in the EU It collects both sector crossing contributions analysing the most relevant theoretical and legal aspects including both EU law and contract theory and sector specific contributions relating to some of the most important sustainable goods and services markets The book starts with a chapter that discusses the different approaches to including sustainability considerations in buying decisions by both private and public purchasers and then goes on to examine the EU law on LCC and how it is implemented in different Member States These chapters address the challenges in balancing economic and sustainability objectives under EU internal market law One chapter develops the analysis with specific reference to public private partnership Another chapter elaborates how multi stakeholders cooperation is necessary to develop LCC based on a case study of a lighting services procurement Three sector specific studies relating to social housing textile and clothing and IT close the book With contributors from a range of backgrounds including law business management engineering and policy development this interdisciplinary book provides the first comprehensive study on LCC within the framework of EU public procurement law

Public Purchasing and Eco-Labeling Schemes Chahira Nouira, Gilles Grolleau, Naoufel Mzoughi, 2014 Many governments have promoted eco labelling schemes as an accurate information based policy to regulate environmental problems This paper argues that governments should integrate eco labelling into their purchasing decisions both to benefit the environment directly and to reinforce eco labelling programs as a means to influence private purchasers Both effects could be quite significant given that governments are large purchasers of goods and services After reviewing the main barriers and potentialities for greening procurement markets we explore several ways by which green public procurement can promote the overall diffusion of eco labelled products
