Power, Discourse, Ethics Kenneth D. Gariepy, 2015-12-21 In this unique study emerging higher education leader and policy expert Kenneth D Gariepy takes a Foucauldian genealogical approach to the study of the intellectually free subject through the analysis of selected academic freedom statement events Assuming academic freedom to be an institutionalized discourse practice operating in the field of contemporary postsecondary education in Canada a specific kind of cross disciplinary historico theoretical research is conducted that pays particular attention to the productive nature and effects of power knowledge The intent is to disrupt academic freedom as commonsensical good and universal right in order to instead focus on how it is that the academic subject emerges as free unfree to think and therefore free unfree to be through particular effective and effecting regimes of truth and strategies of objectification and subjectification In this way the author suggests how it is that academic freedom operates as a set of systemically agonistic practices that might only realize a different economy of discourse through the contingent nature of the very social power that produces it Dr Gariepy s use of Foucault s genealogical analysis provides a wholly different way in which to re think the construction and practice of academic freedom in Canada and is thus an important contribution to the broader discursive field it seeks to analyze Given contemporary neoliberal critiques of the university the issue of academic freedom and the intellectually free subject is a vital problem that is of interest to numerous knowledge producing communities on and off campus Equally important in addressing the problem of academic freedom is how the book also contributes a new description of the genealogical method something Foucault did not stipulate that is original ambitious compelling and insightful I commend Dr Garipey for returning to investigate anew an issue we think we know E Lisa Panayotidis PhD Professor Chair Educational Studies in Curriculum and Learning Werklund School of Education University of Calgary Editor of History of Intellectual Culture attempts to locate the major current concerns to particular issues relating to the University's relations with the corporate world the professor's role relations between student and teacher credentialling the demands of collegiality and plagiarism The editors have provided both a full and reasoned introduction and a critical end piece that attempt to bring some order to the often inchoate nature of this field raising the further question of whether institutions should or should not frame formal codes of conduct The selected papers are drawn from diverse sources and together provide one of the first comprehensive overviews of academic ethics
