Harper's Young People, 1881 Afro-Creole Richard D. E. Burton, 2018-10-18 This wide ranging book explores the origins development and character of Afro Caribbean cultures from the slave period to the present day Richard D E Burton focuses on ways in which African traditions including those in religion music food dress and family structure were transformed by interaction with European and indigenous forces to create the particular cultures of Jamaica Trinidad and Haiti He demonstrates how the resulting Afro Creole cultures have both challenged and reinforced the social political and economic status quo in these countries Jamaican slaves opposed slavery in many ways and one of the most important Burton suggests was the development of Afro Christianity He pays particular attention to the African derived Christmas celebration of Jonkonnu as an expression of opposition and then documents religion in the post slavery period with an emphasis on Rastafarianism in Jamaica and Vodou in Haiti The element of play has always figured importantly in Afro Caribbean life Burton examines the evolution of carnival and calypso in Trinidad and describes the significance of cricket in defining Caribbean national identity Based on ten years of research Afro Creole draws on historical anthropological sociological and literary sources Burton characterizes the emergence of Caribbean identity with three different national flavors and demonstrates how culture both reflects and impacts people's changing sense of their own political power From East of Suez to the Eastern Atlantic Edward Hampshire, 2016-04-15 Exploring British naval policy during the first two governments of Harold Wilson 1964-70 this book analyses how the Navy Department of the Ministry of Defence and the Navy's professional leadership dealt with six years of defence reviews retrenchment and strategic re-orientation This period witnessed a dramatic blow to the service's self image and self confidence as a result of the cancellation of the large CVA 01 aircraft carrier and a gradual process of realignment reorientation and adaptation to the changed political environment resulting in a recovery of self confidence a new strategy and the approval in principle of a class of small aircraft carriers Taking advantage of the recently released official records the study highlights for the first time just how in practice Mountbatten managed to dominate the Chiefs of Staff machinery and how his power was undermined and diminished It also demonstrates that contrary to widespread historical opinion Denis Healey was not necessarily set against carrier air power from his arrival in office and was willing to consider the procurement of a medium carrier for the navy Furthermore the work highlights the importance of the Mediterranean in the rehabilitation and renewal of self confidence by the navy in the late 1960s Although focusing primarily on policy and strategic matters the book incorporates wider historical consideration reviewing other factors that influenced policy making such as foreign policy financial resources materiel manpower and recruitment in addition to the administrative machinery and the cultural environment of the time In so doing Dr Hampshire offers a vivid insight into the interactions of government and military at a critical juncture in the changing nature of Britain's global role
