Modelling Machine Emotions for Realizing Intelligence Toyooki Nishida,Colette Faucher,2010-06-21 Emotion connects the thought to the body which is a magnificent biological vice for sensing and affecting the world The thought controls the body through emotions The body affects the thought through emotions Through this mechanism the thought allows the agent to behave intelligently in the complex world filled with a huge amount of dynamic information The emotion maps a flux of information into a space which the agent is familiar with enabling her him to associate ongoing events with past experiences which help to reduce complexity by providing with a nominal solution Recent findings in brain science suggest that mirror neurons map visual signals into motor signals for the body This mechanism might permit one to experience the emotion of the other agent just by feeling the motor signals caused by mirror neurons as a result of visual stimuli caused by the other agent s emotional behaviours In particular it might play a significant role in invoking empathy in a social situation It may not be hard to think about what might happen to emotion less machines The emotion less machines may not be able to accumulate experiences to avoid serious failures They may not be able to communicate with the humans in an empathetic way From

XII Mediterranean Conference on Medical and Biological Engineering and Computing 2010 Nicolas Pallikarakis, Panagiotis D. Bamidis, 2010-05-28 Over the past three decades the exploding number of new technologies and applications introduced in medical practice often powered by advances in biosignal processing and biomedical imaging created an amazing account of new possibilities for diagnosis and therapy but also raised major questions of appropriateness and safety The accelerated development in this field alongside with the promotion of electronic health care solutions is often on the basis of an uncontrolled diffusion and use of medical technology The emergence and use of medical devices is multiplied rapidly and today there exist more than one million different products available on the world market Despite the fact that the rising cost of health care partly resulting from the new emerging technological applications forms the most serious and urgent problem for many governments today another important concern is that of patient safety and user protection issues that should never be compromised and expelled from the Biomedical Engineering research practice agenda
