Handbook of School-Family Partnerships Sandra L. Christenson,Amy L. Reschly,2010-06-10 Family and community involvement are increasingly touted as a means of improving both student and school level achievement This has led to an increase in policies initiatives and goals designed to address family involvement in schools Once recognized and implemented such family school partnerships can lead to the following benefits enhanced communication and coordination between parents and educators continuity in developmental goals and approaches across family and school contexts shared ownership and commitment to educational goals increased understanding of the complexities of children's situations and the pooling of family and school resources to find and implement quality solutions to shared goals

Parenting Beliefs, Behaviors, and Parent-Child Relations Kenneth H. Rubin,Ock Boon Chung,2013-09-05 The purpose of this book is to present a rather simple argument Parents thoughts about childrearing and the ways in which they interact with children to achieve particular parenting or developmental goals are culturally determined Within any culture children are shaped by the physical and social settings within which they live culturally regulated customs and childrearing practices and culturally based belief systems The psychological meaning attributed to any given social behavior is in large part a function of the ecological niche within which it is produced Clearly it is the case that there are some cultural universals All parents want their children to be healthy and to feel secure However healthy and unhealthy at least in the psychological sense of the term can have different meanings from culture to culture
