Their exploration although successfully flourishing in the last two decades has been considerably impeded by often unintelligible and obsolete vocabulary that was bound to the particular cultural and political context of the Tibetan Empire that collapsed in the 840s CE. The present publication aims at clarifying a part of this vocabulary by examining nearly 400 Old Tibetan compounds. In Part I an attempt has been undertaken to define a compound and to provide the first linguistic classification of Old Tibetan compounds. Part II concentrates on a lexicological analysis of the compounds and strives to explain their etymology, word formation and usage in Old Tibetan. Contents of Volume 1: Introduction, Indices, References. Part I: Compounding in Old Tibetan. Part II: Old Tibetan Compounds. Lexicological Analysis. Lexemes 1-119.

The Languages and Linguistics of South Asia Hans Henrich Hock, Elena Bashir, 2016-05-24. With nearly a quarter of the world's population, members of at least five major language families plus several putative language isolates, South Asia is a fascinating arena for linguistic investigations, whether comparative historical linguistics, studies of language contact and multilingualism, or general linguistic theory. This volume provides a state-of-the-art survey of linguistic research on the languages of South Asia, with contributions by well-known experts. Focus is both on what has been accomplished so far and on what remains unresolved or controversial, and hence offers challenges for future research. In addition to covering the languages, their histories and their genetic classification, as well as phonetics, phonology, morphology, syntax, and sociolinguistics, the volume provides special coverage of contact and convergence, indigenous South Asian grammatical traditions, applications of modern technology to South Asian languages, and South Asian writing systems. An appendix offers a classified listing of major sources and resources, both digital/online and printed.

Ethnolinguistic Prehistory of the Eastern Himalaya Mark W. Post, Stephen Morey, Toni Huber, 2022-08-08. The Eastern Himalaya holds perhaps the highest levels of ethnolinguistic diversity in all Eurasia, with over 300 languages spoken by as many distinct cultural groups. What factors can explain such diversity? How did it evolve, and what can its analysis teach us about the prehistory of its wider region? This pioneering interdisciplinary volume brings together a diverse group of linguists and anthropologists, all of whom seek to reconstruct aspects of Eastern Himalayan ethnolinguistic prehistory from an empirical standpoint on the basis of primary fieldwork-derived data from a diverse range of Himalayan indigenous languages and cultural practices. Contributors are David Bradley, Scott DeLancey, Toni Huber, Gwendolyn Hyslop, Linda Konnerth, Ismael Lieberherr, Yankee Modi, Stephen Morey, Mark W. Post, Uta Reinhold, Alban Stockhausen, Amos Teo, and Marion Wettstein.

An Investigation of Various Linguistic Changes in Chinese and Naxi Jung-yao Lu, 2013-08-19. The comparative analysis of historical linguistics focuses on reconstructing ancient patterns based on diachronic records and typological data from several languages or dialects in a language group. The ultimate aim of the comparative reconstruction, which requires significant cross-linguistic observation and theoretical reasoning, is to demonstrate the historical process of language changes. This book considers the diachronic development of both the Chinese language and the Naxi language, focusing particularly upon six contentious linguistic issues that are associated with various linguistic changes in most areas.

of the grammar of these languages including phonological changes semantic changes syntactic changes and contact induced changes These linguistic issues are 1 tonal splits in proto checked syllables and subgrouping of Loloish 2 the semantic development of RETURN in Chinese 3 the semantic development of TAKE in Chinese 4 the development of agentive passive markers in certain dialects of Chinese 5 definiteness and nominalization relativization and genitivization in Chinese and 6 the development of nominalization relativization and genitivization in Naxi This volume provides new methods and perspectives through which these issues can be analyzed and resolved on the basis of typological and diachronic evidence It uses cross linguistic data from Chinese and the Tibeto Burman languages in order to reconstruct various diachronic developments in Chinese and Naxi      Functional-Historical Approaches to Explanation Tim Thornes,Erik Andvik,Gwendolyn

Hyslop,Joana Jansen,2013-07-25 Contributions from both well known practitioners and new voices in the areas of language typology historical linguistics and function based approaches to language description define this volume as does its foci in two major geographical areas southeast Asia and northwestern North America All of the papers appeal in one way or another to functional historical approaches to explanation Behind this appeal lies an assumption that languages are selective in their development in ways that are dependent upon the communicative tasks to which they are put As such language function accounts for both variation and historical development over time      Origins and Migrations in the Extended Eastern Himalayas Toni Huber,Stuart Blackburn,2012-02-03 Origins and migration are core elements in the histories identities and stories of Tibeto Burman speaking populations in the extended eastern Himalayas These essays explore theories of explaining origins and migration methods for studying them and expressions of them in local cultures
