

1. The first step is to identify the problem or question that needs to be answered. This involves understanding the context and the specific requirements of the task.

the 1990s, the number of people in the United States who are obese has increased by 50 percent. In 1990, 15 percent of the population was obese, but by 2000, that number had risen to 23 percent. In 2008, the number of obese people in the United States was estimated to be 33 percent of the population. The increase in obesity is a major public health concern because it is a leading cause of heart disease, diabetes, and other chronic diseases. The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) estimates that obesity costs the United States $147 billion each year in medical costs and lost productivity. The CDC also estimates that obesity is responsible for 280,000 deaths each year in the United States. The increase in obesity is a result of many factors, including changes in diet and lifestyle. In the 1990s, the average American consumed more calories than in previous decades, and many people began to lead more sedentary lifestyles. The increase in obesity is also a result of changes in the environment. Many people now live in areas where there are few places to exercise, and many people work jobs that require little physical activity. the end of the century, the number of people in the world is expected to reach 10 billion. This will mean that there will be 10 billion people in the world, and this will mean that there will be 10 billion people in the world.
