domestic labour and the family kitchen As Nicola Wilson shows the history of the British working classes has often been written from the outside with observers looking into the world of the inhabitants Here Wilson engages with the long cultural history of this gaze and asks how home is represented in the writing of authors who come from a working class background Her book explores the depiction of home as a key emotional and material site in working class writing from the Edwardian period through to the early 1990s Wilson presents new readings of classic texts including The Ragged Trousered Philanthropists Love on the Dole and Saturday Night and Sunday Morning analyzing them alongside works by authors including James Hanley Walter Brierley Lewis Grassie Gibbon Buchi Emecheta Pat Barker James Kelman and the rediscovered ex mill girl novelist Ethel Carnie Holdsworth Wilson s broad understanding of working class writing allows her to incorporate figures typically ignored in this context as she demonstrates the importance of home s role in the making and expression of class feeling and identity
