dynamics between narrative tropes and mourning it elaborates a poetics of narrative mourning in which prosopopoeia becomes the master trope of mourning while catachresis the master trope of melancholia and chiasmus of trauma Second it develops a situated and flexible theory of mourning capable of adjusting to diverse contexts in which the ethical and political stakes of mourning are different in short Signifying Loss calls for the formulation of geopolitical and differential tactics of mourning and mournability rather than for a clear cut strategy of inconsolability Human Embrace Ronald L.

Hall,2010-11-01 Starting from Søren Kierkegaard's insight that fully accepting the human condition requires one to live with the persistent temptation to escape from it Ronald Hall finds similar concerns reflected in the work of two modern day philosophers Stanley Cavell and Martha Nussbaum who equally find in a philosophy of love and marriage the key to understanding how humans may achieve happiness in the acceptance of their humanity All three thinkers follow a logic of paradox in showing how success in the human quest to be human depends crucially on the struggle humans experience with the ever present opportunities to pursue alternative paths What Kierkegaard called living existentially can be achieved only after confronting and refusing the possibilities of living in aesthetic ethical or even religious denial of one's true humanity By creating this dialogue between the nineteenth century Danish thinker and two eminent twentieth century philosophers Hall reveals the continuing relevance of Kierkegaard's thought to our own age and its cogency as an interpretation of the human predicament Aging and Loss Jason Danely,2015-01-02 By 2030 over 30% of the Japanese population will be 65 or older
