Inhabiting Contemporary Southern and

Appalachian Literature Casey Clabough, 2012-08-26 The idea of place any place remains one of our most basic yet slippery concepts It is a space with boundaries whose limits may be definite or indefinite it can be a real location or an abstract mental spiritual or imaginary construction Casey Clabough's thorough examination of the importance of place in southern literature examines the works of a wide range of authors including Fred Chappell George Garrett William Hoffman Julien Green Kelly Cherry David Huddle and James Dickey Clabough expands the definition of here beyond mere geography offering nuanced readings that examine tradition and nostalgia and explore the existential nature of place Deeply concerned with literature as a form of emotional intellectual and aesthetic engagement with the local and the regional Clabough considers the idea of place in a variety of ways as both a physical and metaphorical location as an important factor in shaping an individual informing one of the ways the person perceives the world and as a temporal as well as geographic construction This fresh and useful contribution to the scholarship on southern literature explains how a text can open up new worlds for readers if they pay close enough attention to place
