Subject Guide to Books in Print, 1997 Forests in a Market Economy Erin O. Sills, Karen Lee Abt, 2013-04-17 This book draws together contributions from forest economists in the Research Triangle of North Carolina with co authors from institutions around the world It represents our common belief that rigorous empirical analysis in an economic framework can inform forest policy We intend the book as a guide to the empirical methods that we have found most useful for addressing both traditional and modern areas of concern in forest policy including timber production and markets multiple use forestry and valuation of non market benefits The book editors and most chapter authors are affiliated with three institutions in the Research Triangle the Southern Research Station of the USDA Forest Service K Abt Butry Holmes Mercer Moulton Prestemon Wear the Department of Forestry at North Carolina State University R Abt Ahn Cabbage Sills and the Environmental and Natural Resource Economics Program of Research Triangle Institute Murray Pattanayak Two other Triangle institutions are also represented among the book authors Duke University Kramer and the Forestland Group Zinkhan In addition to our primary affiliations many of us are adjunct faculty and or graduates of Triangle universities Many of our co authors also graduated from or were previously affiliated with Triangle institutions Thus the selection of topics methods and case studies reflects the work of this particular network of economists and to some degree our location in the southeastern United States However our work and the chapters encompass other regions of the United States and the world including Latin America and Asia

Deep Data Analytics for New Product Development Walter R. Paczkowski, 2020-02-19 This book presents and develops the deep data analytics for providing the information needed for successful new product development Deep Data Analytics for New Product Development has a simple theme information about what customers need and want must be extracted from data to effectively guide new product decisions regarding concept development design pricing and marketing The benefits of reading this book are twofold The first is an understanding of the stages of a new product development process from ideation through launching and tracking each supported by information about customers. The second benefit is an understanding of the deep data analytics for extracting that information from data. These analytics drawn from the statistics, econometrics, market research, and machine learning spaces are developed in detail and illustrated at each stage of the process with simulated data. The stages of new product development and the supporting deep data analytics at each stage are not presented in isolation of each other but are presented as a synergistic whole. This book is recommended reading for analysts involved in new product development. Readers with an analytical bent or who want to develop analytical expertise would also greatly benefit from reading this book as well as students in business programs.

Statistics and Econometrics Joseph Zaremba, 1980 Books in Print, 1994 IRP Reprint Series, 1966 The Philippine Review of Economics, 2005 Complex Decision Making Hassan Qudrat-Ullah, J. Michael Spector, Paal Davidssen, 2007-09-22 Today's ever more complex world creates challenges for decision makers. This volume reviews the principles underlying complex decision making, the handling of uncertainties in dynamic environments, and the various modeling approaches. Beginning with a discussion of the underlying concepts, theories, and empirical evidence, the book gives you a range of practical tools and techniques for decision making in complex environments and systems. Health and Growth Michael Spence, Maureen A. Lewis, 2009 This book contains a series of state-of-the-art essays on topics related to health and growth. The Commission on Growth and Development (CGD) in preparing its own Growth Report wished to take stock of the current state of knowledge and understanding of economic growth and thus commissioned a series of essays on a range of thematic areas. One such area is health. The following questions are discussed in the book: Does investing in health raise economic growth? Can governments achieve rapid growth or high incomes without investing in health? What are the options and benefits of different approaches? Routledge Handbook of Entrepreneurship in Developing Economies Colin C. Williams, Anjula Gurtoo, 2016-07-22 The Routledge Handbook of Entrepreneurship in Developing Economies is a landmark volume that offers a uniquely comprehensive overview of entrepreneurship in developing countries. Addressing the multifaceted nature of entrepreneurship, chapters explore a vast range of subject areas including education, economic policy, gender, and the prevalence and nature of informal sector entrepreneurship. In order to understand the process of new venture creation in developing economies, what it means to be engaged in entrepreneurship in a developing world context must be addressed. This handbook does so by exploring the difficulties, risks, and rewards associated with being an entrepreneur and evaluates the impacts of the environment, relationships, performance, and policy dynamics on small and entrepreneurial firms in developing economies. The handbook brings together a unique collection of over forty international researchers who are all actively engaged in studying entrepreneurship in a developing world context. The chapters offer concise but detailed perspectives and explanations on key aspects of the subject across a diverse array of developing economies spanning Africa, Asia, Latin America, and Eastern Europe. In doing so, the chapters highlight the heterogeneity of entrepreneurship in developed economies and contribute to the on going policy discourses for managing and promoting entrepreneurial growth in the developing world The book will be of great interest to scholars students and policymakers in the areas of development economics business and management public policy and development studies
