Grandfather Symons' Homestead Book R. D. Symons, 1981 Through drawing and stories Grandfather Symons tells what life was like throughout the year for the homesteaders of the Canadian prairies The Literary History of Saskatchewan David Carpenter, 2013-02 Saskatchewan's literary history is both colourful and complex It is also mature enough to deserve a critical investigation of its roots and origins its salient features and its prominent players This collection of scholarly essays conceptualized and compiled by well known Saskatchewan novelist essayist and scholar David Carpenter examines the Saskatchewan literary scene from its early Aboriginal storytellers on through to the decades to the burgeoning 1970s The dozen essays preceded by a David Carpenter introduction include such topics as Our New Storytellers Cree Literature in Saskatchewan The Literary Construction of Saskatchewan before 1905 Narratives of Trade Rebellion and Settlement and The New Generation The Seventies Remembered Also included are special topics among them Playwriting in Saskatchewan Feral Muse Angelic Muse The Poetry of Anne Szumigalski and tribute pieces to John V Hicks R D Symons Terrence Heath and Alex Karras Contributing scholars include the likes of Kristina Fagan Jenny Kerber Susan Gingell Ken Mitchell and Martin Winkist

Freedom to Play Norah L. Lewis, 2010-09-29 When we were children we made our own fun is a frequent comment from those who were children in pre television times But what games activities and amusements did children enjoy prior to the mid 1950s Recollections of older Canadians selections from writings by Canadian authors and letters written to the children's pages of agricultural publications indicate that for most children play was then as now an essential part of childhood Through play youngsters developed the physical mental and emotional skills that helped them cope with life and taught them to get along with other children In both rural and urban settings children were generally free to explore their environment They were sent outdoors to play by both parents and teachers Their games were generally self organized and physically active with domestic animals acting as important companions and playmates Children frequently made their own toys and equipment and since playing rather than winning was important most children were included in games Special days holidays and organizations for children and youth provided welcome breaks from daily routines Their lives were busy but there was always time for play always time for fun Norah Lewis has provided an entertaining view of the toys games and activities in Canada and pre confederate Newfoundland from approximately 1900 through 1955 Her book will be of interest to historians educators and sociologists as well as anyone who lived through or wants to know more about those early years in Canada and the games children used to play Stories About Storytellers Douglas Gibson, 2011-10-01 The legendary Canadian book editor presents this remarkable four decade romp through the back rooms of publishing Toronto Sun Scottish born Douglas Gibson was drawn to Canada by the writing of Stephen Leacock and eventually made his way across the Atlantic to find a job in book publishing where he edited a biography of none other than Leacock But over the decades his stellar career would lead him to work with many more of the country's leading literary lights This memoir shares stories of working and playing alongside writers including Robertson Davies Mavis Gallant Brian Mulroney Val Ross W O Mitchell and many more Gibson reveals the projects he brainstormed for Barry Broadfoot how he convinced future Nobel Prize winner Alice Munro to keep writing short stories his early morning phone call from a former prime minister and his recollection of yanking a manuscript right out of Alistair MacLeod's reluctant hands which ultimately garnered the author one of the world's most prestigious prizes for fiction Insightful and entertaining this collection of tales goes behind the scenes and between the covers to divulge a treasure trove of literary adventures He makes his life in publishing sound like great fun The Globe and Mail Toronto Canadian Book Review Annual ,1983 The Elementary School Library Collection Lauren K.
