Granta 89 The Factory:

Finnegans Wakes Patrick O'Neill, 2022-03-01 James Joyce's astonishing final text Finnegans Wake 1939 is universally acknowledged to be entirely untranslatable. And yet no fewer than fifteen complete renderings of the 628 page text exist to date in twelve different languages altogether and at least ten further complete renderings have been announced as underway for publication in the early 2020s in nine different languages. Finnegans Wakes delineates for the first time in any language the international history of these renderings and discusses the multiple issues faced by translators. The book also comments on partial and fragmentary renderings from some thirty languages altogether including such perhaps unexpected languages as Galician, Guarani, Chinese, Korean, Turkish and Irish, not to mention Latin and Ancient Egyptian. Excerpts from individual renderings are analysed in detail together with brief biographical notes on numerous individual translators. Chronicling renderings spanning multiple decades, Finnegans Wakes illustrates the capacity of Joyce's final text to generate an inexhaustible multiplicity of possible meanings among the ever increasing number of its impossible translations. An Ethnography of Household Energy Demand in the UK Roxana Moroşanu, 2016-07-13 This book challenges the ways we think about human agency by looking at the creativity, ethics and capacities for social transformation that are embedded in simple actions of doing. Stemming from ethnographic research with families in the United Kingdom as part of a wider interdisciplinary project looking at domestic energy demand, this book probes some mundane approaches to time such as spontaneity, anticipation and family time and the ways in which they extend ethical imaginations, create new forms of sociality and engender human agency. Writing and Presenting Research Angela Thody, 2006-06-15 This accessible and wide-ranging book is an invaluable introductory guide through the choices to be made when deciding how to report research. Writing and Presenting Research covers research written as theses and dissertations, chapters, books, reports and articles in academic, professional or general media such as newspapers and also reviews the options for presenting research orally as lectures, keynotes, conference papers and even TV game shows. These forms of reporting research have well established conventions for their formats but they also have growing numbers of alternative possibilities. This has generated debate about what is or is not acceptable and the aim of this book is to make this debate more manageable for those wanting to assess which of the conventional or alternative possibilities on offer is most appropriate for reporting their current research. Arranged in easily followed sections enlivened with checklists, style variations, examples and reflection points, Writing and Presenting Research has relevance to the social sciences, arts, humanities, natural and applied sciences and law and is an invaluable reference tool for new and experienced researchers alike. SAGE Study Skills are essential study guides for students of all levels. From how to write great essays and succeeding at university to writing your undergraduate dissertation and doing postgraduate research, SAGE Study Skills help you get the best from your time at university. Visit the SAGE Study Skills hub for tips, resources and videos on study success. Coastal Works Nicholas Allen, Nick Groom, Jos Smith, 2017-07-04

In all the complex cultural history of the islands of Britain and Ireland the idea of the coast as a significant representative space is critical. For many important artists coastal space has figured as a site from which to braid ideas of empire, nation, region and archipelago. They have been drawn to the coast as a zone of geographical uncertainty in which the self definitions of the nation founder they have been drawn to it as a peripheral space of vestigial wildness of island retreats and experimental living as a network of diverse localities richly endowed with distinctive forms of cultural heritage and as a dynamically interconnected ecosystem which is at the same time the historic site of significant developments in fieldwork and natural science. This collection situates these cultures of the Atlantic edge in a series of essays that create new contexts for coastal study in literary history and criticism. The contributors frame their research in response to emerging conversations in archipelagic criticism, the blue humanities and island studies, the essays challenging the reader to reconsider ideas of margin, periphery and exchange. These twelve case studies establish the coast as a crucial location in the imaginative history of Britain, Ireland and the north Atlantic edge. Coastal Works will appeal to readers of literature and history with an interest in the sea, the environment and the archipelago from the 18th century to the present. Accessible, innovative and provocative, Coastal Works establishes the important role that the coast plays in our cultural imaginary and suggests a range of methodologies to represent relationships between land, sea and cultural work. Wordsmithery Jayne Steel, 2006-11-09

This stimulating workbook is aimed at committed writers and students of creative writing who want to engage with ideas about writing and develop their craft and practice. Drawing on the expertise of a range of professional and award winning contributors, the focus is on writing as process, moving from practical guidance on form and style through to using themes such as body or house as a creative springboard. Including specially designed writing exercises and illustrative extracts, this innovative guide will inspire and challenge. It is an essential resource for anyone who wishes to master the art and practice of creative writing and galvanise their talent to professional and publication level. Contributions by Linda Anderson, Theodore Deppe, George Green, Graeme Harper aka Brooke Biaz, William Herbert Lee, Martin Jenny, Newman Jayne Steel and a Foreword by Patricia Duncker. The Railway and Modernity Matthew Beaumont, Michael J. Freeman, 2007. Most research and writing on railway history has been undertaken in a way that disconnects it from the wider cultural milieu. Authors have been very effective at constructing specialist histories of transport but have failed to register the railway's central importance in the representation and understanding of modernity. This book brings together contributions from a range of established scholars in a variety of disciplines with the central purpose of exploring the railway less as a transport technology than as a key signifier of capitalist modernity. It examines the complex social relations in which the railway became historically embedded, identifying it as a central problematic in the cultural experience of modernity. It avoids the limitations of both the close sighted empiricism typical of many transport historians and the long sighted generalizations of cultural commentators who view the railway merely as a shorthand for the concept of progress over the nineteenth and twentieth centuries The book draws on a diverse range of materials including literary and historical forms of representation It is also informed by a creative application of various critical theories Science Fiction, Fantasy & Horror ,1989 A comprehensive bibliography of books and short fiction published in the English language The Care Factory David Mathew,2016-06-22 What is care The Care Factory consists of six essays each of which is an invitation to the reader to form an opinion on what care happens to be Each chapter looks at care in a different setting and a variety of psychoanalytic frameworks are employed on which to hang arguments The eponymous first chapter investigates undergraduate courses in nursing and midwifery that have care on the syllabus Is it possible to teach care What if the person teaching care is not someone who cares The second chapter is Banquet of Crumbs If care can be experienced in any setting and at any time is there anything that happens to those who care that we might regard as generic What does caring do to the practitioners who care The focus of The Breaking of Wings is prisons and secure settings for children and adolescents How do such institutions endorse and exhibit care In Nostalgia s Engine the focus is on the care generated by successful group assimilation and the manufacture of nostalgia Using the example of the punk movement of the 1970s this chapter describes how organisations offer their participants communities of care irrespective of their outward appearance of hostility Caring for Our Creations is about writing and about one s responsibilities for what one drafts into existence This chapter is not so much about a narrative of care as the care of a narrative Finally Take Care A Coda represents a lesson on how one cares for oneself in an atmosphere of tension and bereavement anxiety The Life of Words David-Antoine Williams,2020-05-07 For centuries investigations into the origins of words were entwined with investigations into the origins of humanity and the cosmos With the development of modern etymological practice in the nineteenth century however many cherished etymologies were shown to be impossible and the very idea of original true meaning asserted in the etymology of etymology declared a fallacy Structural linguistics later held that the relationship between sound and meaning in language was arbitrary or unmotivated a truth that has survived with small modification until today On the other hand the relationship between sound and meaning has been a prime motivator of poems at all times throughout history The Life of Words studies a selection of poets inhabiting our Age of the Arbitrary whose auditory semantic sensibilities have additionally been motivated by a historical sense of the language troubled as it may be by claims and counterclaims of fallacy or true meaning Arguing that etymology activates peculiar kinds of epistemology in the modern poem the book pays extended attention to poems by G M Hopkins Anne Waldman Ciaran Carson and Anne Carson and to the collected works of Geoffrey Hill Paul Muldoon Seamus Heaney R F Langley and J H Prynne Multilingual Living C. Burck,2004-12-07 Multilingual Living presents speakers own accounts of the challenges and advantages of living in several languages at individual family and societal levels Individuals note profound differences in their sense of themselves their relationships and their parenting depending on which language they use In the Chair John Brown,2002 All of the poets interviewed in this collection are from Northern Ireland all were born after 1920 and each has published at least one volume of poetry Arranged chronologically by each poet's date of birth this collection deals with an impressive body of work The poets include Seamus Heaney Paul Muldoon Michael Longley John Montague Derek Mahon Ciaran Carson as well as less known voices including Gerald Dawe Roy McFadden and Conor O Callaghan The interviews explore the poet's work and development the social historical context and the impact of assimilated influences If they explore a poetry often rooted in the North they also suggest the individuality and diversity of this poetry of work whose imaginative range is not circumscribed by either literal borders or critically convenient categories The other poets included are James Simmons Tom Paulin Frank Ormsby Medbh McGuckian Robert Greacen Cathal P Searcaigh Colette Bryce Moyra Donaldson Jean Bleakney Martin Mooney Padraic Fiacc and Cherry Smyth

Ireland, Literature, and the Coast Nicholas Allen, 2020-11-05 The island of Ireland is home to one of the world's great literary and artistic traditions This book reads Irish literature and art in context of the island's coastal and maritime cultures beginning with the late imperial experiences of Jack and William Butler Yeats and ending with the contemporary work of Anne Enright and Sinéad Morrissey It includes chapters on key historical texts such as Erskine Childers's The Riddle of the Sands and on contemporary writers including Eilís Ní Chuilleanáin and Kevin Barry It sets a diverse range of writing and visual art in a fluid panorama of liquid associations that connect Irish literature to an archipelago of other times and places Situated within contemporary conversations about the blue and the environmental humanities this book builds on the upsurge of interest in seas and coasts in literary studies presenting James Joyce Elizabeth Bowen John Banville and many others in new coastal and maritime contexts In doing so it creates a literary and visual narrative of Irish coastal cultures across a seaboard that extends to a planetary configuration of imagined islands

History of Chelmsford, Massachusetts Wilson Waters, Radio Man Mark Frankland, 2002-07-02 In 1929 Stanley bought a small radio manufacturing company from its founder W G Pye By the time it crashed and burned in 1966 the Pye company had become an international empire employing 30 000 workers and was associated with some of the most dramatic application of electronics in the period Frankland a journalist with a background in history tells the story of the man and his company Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR

Pat Barker John Brannigan, 2005 This book offers readings of Barker's innovations in narrative form her revisionist perspectives on history class and gender and her preoccupation with themes of trauma haunting and terror It also analyzes the reasons for her success and significance as a novelist The chapters draw on contemporary theories of critical realism gender and social identities memory and narrative in order to outline the debates with which Barker's work has consistently engaged

Jailtacht Diarmait Mac Giolla Chríost, 2012-05-15 Using research methods and techniques the author closely analyses the emergence of the Irish language amongst republican prisoners and ex prisoners in Northern Ireland from the 1970's up until the present This pioneering study shows how the language was used exclusively in parts of the prison despite the efforts of the prison authorities to suppress the language and the dramatic impact this had on Irish society Drawing on interviews with the prisoners and various other materials Mac Giolla Chriost shows how these developments gave rise to the popular coinage of the term Jailtacht a deformation of Gaeltacht the official Irish speaking district of the Republic of Ireland to describe this unique linguistic phenomenon

Poetry and Class Sandie Byrne, 2020-01-30 This study discusses the representation of class in poetry in English from Britain and Ireland between the fourteenth and twenty first centuries and the effect of class on the production dissemination and reception of that poetry It looks at the factors which enable and obstruct the production of poetry such as literacy education patronage prejudice print and the various alleged revivals of poetry in Britain and the relationship between class and poetic form Whilst this is a survey that cannot be comprehensive it offers a number of case studies of poets and poems from each period considered

Work and Society Tim Strangleman, Tracey Warren, 2008-04-10 Work and Society is an important new text about the sociology of work and employment It provides both undergraduate and postgraduate students of sociology business and politics with a firm and enjoyable foundation to this fascinating area of sociology giving comprehensive coverage of traditional areas of the sub discipline as well as new trends and developments The book is divided into three complementary and interconnected sections investigating work work and social change and understanding work These sections allow readers to explore themes issues and approaches by examining how sociologists have thought about and researched work and how the sub discipline has been influenced by wider society itself Novel features include separate chapters on researching work domestic work unemployment and work and the representation of work in literary and visual media

The Japanese Effect in Contemporary Irish Poetry Irene De Angelis, 2016-04-30 The Japanese Effect in Contemporary Irish Poetry provides a stimulating original and lively analysis of the Irish Japanese literary connection from the early 1960s to 2007 While for some this may partly remain Oscar Wilde's mode of style this book will show that there is more of Japan in the work of contemporary Irish poets than a tinkling of china and tea into china Drawing on unpublished new sources Irene De Angelis includes poets from a broad range of cultural backgrounds with richly varied styles Seamus Heaney Derek Mahon Ciaran Carson and Paul Muldoon together with younger poets such as Sinéad Morrissey and Joseph Woods Including close readings of selected poems this is an indispensable companion for all those interested in the broader historical and cultural research on the effect of oriental literature in modernist and postmodernist Irish poetry

Identity Parades Richard Kirkland, 2002-01-01 Northern Ireland is a country of two distinct identities politically socially and culturally This text traces the two identities implicit inner contradictions and how they have manifested within Northern Ireland
