Museum Practice Conal McCarthy, 2020-11-17 MUSEUM PRACTICE Edited by CONAL MCCARTHY Museum Practice covers the professional work carried out in museums and art galleries of all types including the core functions of management collections exhibitions and programs Some forms of museum practice are familiar to visitors yet within these diverse and complex institutions many practices are hidden from view such as creating marketing campaigns curating and designing exhibitions developing fundraising and sponsorship plans crafting mission statements handling repatriation claims dealing with digital media and more Focused on what actually occurs in everyday museum work this volume offers contributions from experienced professionals and academics that cover a wide range of subjects including policy frameworks ethical guidelines approaches to conservation collection care and management exhibition development and public programs From internal processes such as leadership governance and strategic planning to public facing roles in interpretation visitor research and community engagement and learning each essential component of contemporary museum practice is thoroughly discussed

The Changing Face of Early Modern Time, 1550-1770 Jane Desborough, 2019-03-27 This book provides a reinterpretation of early modern clock and watch dials on the basis of use Between 1550 and the emergence of a standard format in 1770 dials represented combinations of calendrical lunar and astronomical information using multiple concentric rings subsidiary dials and apertures Change was gradual but significant Over the course of eight chapters and with reference to thirty five exceptional images this book unlocks the meaning embedded within these early combinations The true significance of dial change can only be fully understood by comparing dials with printed paper sources such as almanacs diagrams and craft pamphlets Clock and watch makers drew on traditional communication methods utilised different formats to generate trust in their work and tried to be help users in different contexts The calendar lunar and astronomical functions were useful as a memory prompt for astrology up until the mid late seventeenth century After the decline of this practice the three functions continued to be useful for other purposes but eventually declined

Collections Management as Critical Museum Practice Cara Krmpotich, Alice Stevenson, 2024-07-22 There is a common misconception that collections management in museums is a set of rote procedures or technical practices that follow universal standards of best practice This volume recognises collections management as a political critical and social project involving considerable intellectual labour that often goes unacknowledged within institutions and in the fields of museum and heritage studies Collections Management as Critical Museum Practice brings into focus the knowledges value systems ethics and workplace pragmatics that are foundational for this work Rather than engaging solely with cultural modifications such as Indigenous care practices the book presents local knowledge of place and material which is relevant to how collections are managed and cared for worldwide Through discussion of varied collection types management activities and professional roles contributors develop a contextualised reflexive practice for how core collections management standards are conceptualised negotiated and enacted Chapters span national museums in Brazil and Uganda to community led heritage work in Malaysia and Canada they explore complexities of numbering digitisation and description alongside the realities of climate change global pandemics and natural disasters The book offers a new definition of collections management travelling from what is done to care for collections to what is done to care for collections and their users Rather than use being an end goal it emerges as a starting point to rethink collections work

The International Handbooks of Museum Studies, 4 Volume Set Sharon Macdonald, Helen Rees Leahy, 2015-07-20 The International Handbooks of Museum Studies is a multi volume reference work that represents a state of the art survey of the burgeoning field of museum studies Featuring original essays by leading international museum experts and emerging scholars readings cover all aspects of museum theory practice debates and the impact of technologies The four volumes in the series divided thematically offer in depth treatment of all major issues relating to museum theory historical and contemporary museum practice mediations in art design and architecture and the transformations and challenges confronting the museum In addition to invaluable surveys of current scholarship the entries include a rich and diverse panoply of examples and original case studies to illuminate the various perspectives Unprecedented for its in depth topic coverage and breadth of scholarship the multi volume International Handbooks of Museum Studies is an indispensable resource for the study of the development roles and significance of museums in contemporary society

Shoah Presence: Architectural Representations of the Holocaust Eran Neuman, 2016-04-01 Through the analysis of several commemorative acts in space matter and image namely museums and memorials this book reflects on the ways in which architecture as a discipline a practice and a discourse represents the Holocaust In doing so it problematises how one presents an extreme historical case in a contemporary context and integrates the historical into actuality By examining several cases the book defines the issues faced by various architects who dealt with this topic and discusses their separate and distinctive approaches In each case it analyses the ways in which the cultural and political contexts of commemoration led to a different interpretation of the condition Focusing on the Ghetto Fighters House the world's first Holocaust museum Yad Vashem Israel's national Holocaust memorial in Jerusalem the US Holocaust Memorial Museum in Washington and the Holocaust Memorial in Berlin the book discusses how the representation of history by architecture creates a dialectic process in which architecture mediates the past to the present while at the same time creating a present saturated with historical contexts It shows how together they are incorporated into one another and create a new reality past and present intertwined

Museums and Education Eileen Hooper-Greenhill, 2007-12-12 At the beginning of the 21st century museums are challenged on a number of fronts The prioritisation of learning in museums in the context of demands for social justice and cultural democracy combined with cultural policy based on economic rationalism forces museums to review their educational purposes redesign their pedagogies and account for their performance The need to theorise learning and culture for a cultural theory of learning is very pressing If culture acts as a process of signification a means of producing meaning that shapes worldviews learning in museums and other cultural organisations is potentially dynamic and profound producing self identities How is this complexity to be measured What can this measurement reveal about the character of museum based learning The calibration of culture is an international phenomenon and the measurement of the outcomes and impact of learning in museums in England has provided a detailed case study Three national evaluation studies were carried out between 2003 and 2006 based on the conceptual framework of Generic Learning Outcomes Using this revealing data Museums and Education reveals the power of museum pedagogy and as it does questions are raised about traditional museum culture and the potential and challenge for museum futures is suggested Museums, Prejudice and the Reframing of Difference Richard Sandell, 2007-01-24 How if it all do museums shape the ways in which society understands difference In recent decades there has been growing international interest amongst practitioners academics and policy makers in the role that museums might play in confronting prejudice and promoting human rights and cross cultural understanding Museums in many parts of the world are increasingly concerned to construct exhibitions which represent in more equitable ways the culturally pluralist societies within which they operate accommodating and engaging with differences on the basis of gender race ethnicity class religion disability sexuality and so on Despite the ubiquity of these trends there is nevertheless limited understanding of the social effects and attendant political consequences of these purposive representational strategies Richard Sandell combines interdisciplinary theoretical perspectives with in depth empirical investigation to address a number of timely questions How do audiences engage with and respond to exhibitions designed to contest subvert and reconfigure prejudiced conceptions of social groups To what extent can museums be understood to shape not simply reflect normative understandings of difference acceptability and tolerance What are the challenges for museums which attempt to engage audiences in debating morally charged and contested contemporary social issues and how might these be addressed Sandell argues that museums frame inform and enable the conversations which audiences and society more broadly have about difference and highlights the moral and political challenges opportunities and responsibilities which accompany these constitutive qualities Sentient Relics Janice Baker, 2016-08-25 Sentient Relics explores museums through cinema and challenges the dominant focus of museum theory as an inclusion exclusion debate The author responds to the Enlightenment rational museum of reason contrasting this with the museum of affect and reveals these two museums operating alongside one another in a productive paradox In structuralist orientated museum theory the affective realm is often subsumed within the imperatives of Marxist theory and practice identity politics semiology and psychoanalysis Sentient Relics while valuing the insights of ideologically focused meaning making turns to the capacity of the affective realm of experience to transform the passive subject and object relation The author uses museum encounters and cinematic affect to engage with problems of difference temporality emotion and the sublime In so doing the book advances research in museum studies by demonstrating what is at stake in pragmatically working toward a deeper understanding of the museum socially culturally and philosophically

Curating Community Stacy Douglas, 2017-07-13 In Curating Community Museums Constitutionalism and the Taming of the Political Stacy Douglas challenges the centrality of sovereignty in our political and juridical imaginations Creatively bringing together constitutional political and aesthetic theory Douglas argues that museums and constitutions invite visitors to identify with a prescribed set of political constituencies based on national ethnic or anthropocentric premises In both cases these stable categories gloss over the radical messiness of the world and ask us to conflate representation with democracy Yet the museum when paired with the constitution can also serve as a resource in the production of alternative imaginations of community Consequently Douglas s key contribution is the articulation of a theory of counter monumental constitutionalism using the museum that seeks to move beyond individual and collective forms of sovereignty that have dominated postcolonial and postapartheid theories of law and commemoration She insists on the need to reconsider deep questions about how we conceptualize the limits of ourselves as well as our political communities in order to attend to everyday questions of justice in the courtroom the museum and beyond Curating Community is a book for academics artists curators and constitutional designers interested in legacies of violence transitional justice and democracy

Museum Philosophy for the Twenty-First Century Hugh H. Genoways, 2006-06-08 What underlying philosophy and mission should museums pursue in the first half of the twenty first century In Museum Philosophy twenty four authors use the lenses of a variety of disciplines to answer this essential question Museum professionals offer their answers alongside philosophers historians political scientists educators sociologists and others in a wide ranging exploration of institutions from art museums to zoos Hugh Genoway s book offers philosophical and ethical guidelines describes the ways specific institutions illustrate different philosophies examines major divisions in the museum community and explores outreach and engagement between the museum and its larger community Both established museum professionals and students of museum studies will benefit from this insightful look into the foundations and future of their field

Installation Art and the Museum Vivian Saaze, 2025-10-01 Installation art has become mainstream in artistic practices However acquiring and displaying such artworks implies that curators and conservators are challenged to deal with obsolete technologies ephemeral materials and other issues concerning care and management of these artworks By analysing three in depth case studies the author sheds new light on the key concepts of traditional conservation authenticity artist s intention and the notion of ownership while exploring how these concepts apply in contemporary art conservation Based on original empirical research and cross case analysis this ground breaking study offers a re examination of traditional conservation values and ethics and argues for a reassessment of the role of the conservator of contemporary art Destroy the Copy - Plaster Cast Collections in the 19th-20th Centuries Annetta Alexandridis, Lorenz Winkler-Horaček, 2022-09-06 Based on two international conferences held at Cornell University and the Freie Universität of Berlin in 2010 and 2015 this volume is the first ever to explicitly address the destruction of plaster cast collections of ancient Mediterranean and Western sculpture Focusing on Europe the Americas and Japan art historians archaeologists and a literary scholar discuss how different museum and academic traditions national as well as disciplinary notions of value and authenticity or colonialism impacted the fate of collections The texts offer detailed documentation of degrees of destruction by spectacular acts of defacement demolition discarding or neglect They also shed light on the accompanying discourses regarding aesthetic ideals political ideologies educational and scholarly practices or race With destruction being understood as a critical part of reception the histories of cast collections defy the traditional homogenous narrative of rise and decline Their diverse histories provide critical evidence for rethinking the use and display of plaster cast collections in the contemporary moment

Henry James in Context David McWhirter, 2010-09-16 Long misread as a novelist conspicuously lacking in historical consciousness Henry James has often been viewed as detached from and uninterested in the social political and material realities of his time As this volume demonstrates however James was acutely responsive not only to his era's changing attitudes toward gender sexuality class and ethnicity but also to changing conditions of literary production and reception the rise of consumerism and mass culture and the emergence of new technologies and media of new apprehensions of time and space These essays portray the author and his works in the context of the modernity that determined formed interested appalled and or provoked his always curious mind With contributions from an international cast of distinguished scholars Henry James in Context provides a map of leading edge work in contemporary James studies an invaluable reference work for students and scholars and a blueprint for possible future directions

A Place That Matters Yet Sara Byala, 2013-06-15 A Place That Matters Yet unearths the little known story of Johannesburg's MuseumAfrica a South African history museum that embodies one of the most dynamic and fraught stories of colonialism and postcolonialism its life spanning the eras before during and after apartheid Sara Byala in examining this story sheds new light not only on racism and its institutionalization in South Africa but also on the problems facing any museum that is charged with navigating colonial history from a postcolonial perspective Drawing on thirty years of personal letters and public writings by museum founder John Gubbins Byala paints a picture of a uniquely progressive colonist focusing on his philosophical notion of three dimensional thinking which aimed to transcend binaries and thus quite explicitly racism Unfortunately Gubbins died within weeks of the museum's opening and his hopes would go unrealized as the museum fell in line with emergent apartheid politics Following the museum through this transformation and on to its 1994 reconfiguration as a post apartheid institution Byala showcases it as
