Ratcliffe,2016-10-11 In the 1960s a few volunteers at the Mary Ball Washington Museum MBWM in Lancaster Virginia began collecting inscriptions and making brief location notes on the rapidly disappearing family cemeteries of Lancaster County In early 1999 the compilers of this book began to complete the task by making an extensive search for family burial sites and adding inscriptions from church and community cemeteries We naively said we would be finished by the end of that year Clyde and Carolyn Ratcliffe beat the bushes to locate family cemeteries some with a single gravestone Peggy and John Hill transcribed stones in church and community cemeteries We found ancient and modern flat table markers We found ordinary markers with only birth and death dates There were homemade handlettered markers of cement and even a few made of wood We found a few graves marked with statuary and many marked with obelisks We hope we have found the grave marker that is of vital interest to you
