Cothran, Erica Danylchak,2018-01-31 Growing urban populations prompted major changes in graveyard location design and use During the Industrial Revolution people flocked to American cities Overcrowding in these areas led to packed urban graveyards that were not only unsightly but were also a source of public health fears The solution was a revolutionary new type of American burial ground located in the countryside just beyond the city This rural cemetery movement which featured beautifully landscaped grounds and sculptural monuments is documented by James R Cothran and Erica Danylchak in Grave Landscapes The Nineteenth Century Rural Cemetery

Movement The movement began in Boston where a group of reformers that included members of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society were grappling with the city's mounting burial crisis. Inspired by the naturalistic garden style and melancholy-infused commemorative landscapes that had emerged in Europe, the group established a burial ground outside of Boston on an expansive tract of undulating wooded land and added meandering roadways, picturesque ponds, ornamental trees and shrubs, and consoling memorials. They named it Mount Auburn and officially dedicated it as a rural cemetery. This groundbreaking endeavor set a powerful precedent that prompted the creation of similarly landscaped rural cemeteries outside of growing cities, first in the Northeast, then in the Midwest and South, and later in the West. These burial landscapes became a cultural phenomenon attracting not only mourners seeking solace but also urbanites seeking relief from the frenetic confines of the city. Rural cemeteries predated America's public parks, and their popularity as picturesque retreats helped propel America's public parks movement. This beautifully illustrated volume features more than 150 historic photographs, stereographs, postcards, engravings, maps, and contemporary images that illuminate the inspiration for rural cemeteries, their physical evolution, and the nature of the landscapes they inspired. Extended profiles of twenty-four rural cemeteries reveal the curvilinear design features of this distinctive landscape type prior to the American Civil War and its evolution afterward. Grave Landscapes details rural cemetery design characteristics to facilitate their identification and preservation and places rural cemeteries into the broader context of American landscape design to encourage appreciation of their broader influence on the design of public spaces.

Buried Beneath Cleveland: Lost Cemeteries of Cuyahoga County William G. Krejci, 2015-10-12 The dead do not always rest in peace. Occasionally they wind up in the backyard. As towns grew in Cuyahoga County during the late 1800s, many of its cemeteries were relocated to make room for urban sprawl. But not all of these graves made the journey. Author William G. Krejci tracks down more than fifty displaced cemeteries throughout the Greater Cleveland area. Discover the Revolutionary War veterans, famous scientists, and illustrious dignitaries found beneath gas stations and grocery stores in this eerie history of Cuyahoga County's forgotten dead.

Identification and Mapping of Historic Graves at Colonial Cemetery, Savannah, Georgia Michael Trinkley, Debi Hacker, Chicora Foundation, 1999 Stone Faces and Sacred Spaces, a cemetery preservation organization in Mineral Point, Wisconsin, was retained by the City to repair markers, tombs, and fences, develop a preservation plan, and explore long-range improvements to Colonial Cemetery, best known as Colonial Park. As part of that work, Chicora Foundation was asked to conduct a first phase of an archaeological study of the cemetery.
