Graywolf Annual Nine Stories From The New Europe:

The Graywolf Annual, 1993 The Graywolf Annual Nine Scott Walker, 1992 The subject of multi culturalism versus Eurocentrism has been much debated in the United States most often as if Europe was a single cultural entity This notion is encouraged by the development of the European Economic Community a vision of a politically and economically united Europe The short stories included in The Graywolf Annual 9 Stories from the New Europe illustrate another vision the remarkable variety of European cultures from the individual voices of the former Soviet Baltic states to the nuances of Croat Serb and Czech Slovak voices and the surprising strength of Euzkadi Basque Icelandic Irish immigrant and Catalan cultures Despite political pressures to unify under artificial boundaries economic pressures of the EEC and a mass market and communications system that threatens to overwhelm localized customs and concerns ancient deep rooted cultures and languages have managed to survive In a precise counterbalance to the strength of mass culture regional identities are in fact blossoming throughout Europe These stories are told by writers whose use of their native language has resulted in their imprisonment by Nobel Prize winners by writers whose large audience is entirely underground Among authors included in this Graywolf Annual are Ivan Kliačuta Ma Mercegrave Rodoreda Danilo Kiš Halldór Laxness and Dubravka Ugrešić

The Graywolf Annual Ten Scott Walker, 1993 For nearly all of human history our notion of community was centered on the family tribe and or village The centrality of that notion is at the core of our values The 20th century brought air travel a revolution in communications the internationalization of culture and business the growth of an international language all in all a complete overturning of our historic understanding of community As a result we now have to think about the many different levels and many new faces of community Our families are nuclear extended and broken few of us live in one place our entire lives and most of our cities towns and regions change beyond recognition every few years The concept of the nation state itself is breaking down and people are more closely identifying with biogeographical religious or ethnic communities Incorporating essays from a diverse range of sources such as Parabola Chronicles A Magazine of American Culture the New Yorker and The Well a national computerized bulletin board Changing Community examines the ways that our ideas of community are evolving The American Bibliography of Slavic and East European Studies Patt Leonard, Rebecca Routh, 2020-02-27 This bibliography first published in 1957 provides citations to North American academic literature on Europe Central Europe the Balkans the Baltic States and the former Soviet Union Organised by discipline it covers the arts humanities social sciences life sciences and technology Place in Literature Roberto Maria Dainotto, 2000 Since the 1840s when Victorian England emerged into the modern era and industrial cities became the new cultural centers regionalist literature has posited itself as an aesthetic alternative to nationalist culture Yet what differentiates regionalism's claims of authenticity derived from blood and soil from those of nationalism Through close readings and theoretical elaborations Roberto M Dainotto reveals the degree to which regionalism mimics nationalism in valorizing ethnic purity He interprets regionalism not as a genre in the pastoral tradition but as a rhetorical trope a way of reading in which regionalism figures as the other against a historical process that disrupts the organic wholeness of place Dainotto traces the genealogy of the idea of place in literature examining European texts from Victorian England to Fascist Italy He finds for example in Thomas Hardy's The Return of the Native a virtual thesaurus of regionalist commonplaces Elizabeth Gaskell's North and South mediates between Madame de Stal's privileging of the sophisticated north and Jean Jacques Rousseau's nostalgia for the naive south The regionalism of the Sicilian philosopher Giovanni Gentile exhibits a deep longing for the humanities as they define Italy and Western culture Dainotto concludes with a close look at the rhetoric of Nazism and Fascism dramatizing the convergence of regionalist aesthetics and nationalist ideology in Italy and Germany between the two World Wars

The American Bibliography of Slavic and East European Studies for 1994 Patt Leonard, Rebecca Routh, 1997-05-31 This text provides a source of citations to North American scholarships relating specifically to the area of Eastern Europe and the former Soviet Union It indexes fields of scholarship such as the humanities arts technology and life sciences and all kinds of scholarship such as PhDs
