Grandfather's Chair Nathaniel Hawthorne, 2017-06-12 CHAPTER I GRANDFATHER AND THE CHILDREN AND THE CHAIR GRANDFATHER had been sitting in his old arm chair all that pleasant afternoon while the children were pursuing their various sports far off or near at hand. Sometimes you would have said Grandfather is asleep but still even when his eyes were closed his thoughts were with the young people playing among the flowers and shrubbery of the garden. He heard the voice of Laurence who had taken possession of a heap of decayed branches which the gardener had lopped from the fruit trees and was building a little hut for his cousin Clara and himself. He heard Clara's gladsome voice too as she weeded and watered the flower bed which had been given her for her own. He could have counted every footstep that Charley took as he trundled his wheelbarrow along the gravel walk. And though Grandfather was old and gray haired yet his heart leaped with joy whenever little Alice came fluttering like a butterfly into the room. Sire had made each of the children her playmate in turn and now made Grandfather her playmate too and thought him the merriest of them all. At last the children grew weary of their sports because a summer afternoon is like a long lifetime to the young. So they came into the room together and clustered round Grandfather's great chair. Little Alice who was hardly five years old took the privilege of the youngest and climbed his knee. It was a pleasant thing to behold that fair and golden haired child in the lap of the old man and to think that different as they were the hearts of both could be gladdened with the same joys. Grandfather said little Alice laying her head back upon his arm I am very tired now. You must tell me a story to make me go to sleep. That is not what story tellers like answered Grandfather smiling. They are better satisfied when they can keep their auditors awake. But here are Laurence and Charley and I cried cousin Clara who was twice as old as little Alice. We will all three keep wide awake. And pray Grandfather tell us a story about this strange looking old chair. Now the chair in which Grandfather sat was made of oak which had grown dark with age but had been rubbed and polished till it shone as bright as mahogany It was very large and heavy and had a back that rose high above Grandfather s white head This back was curiously carved in open work so as to represent flowers and foliage and other devices which the children had often gazed at but could never understand what they meant On the very tip top of the chair over the head of Grandfather himself was a likeness of a lion s head which had such a savage grin that you would almost expect to hear it growl and snarl The children had seen Grandfather sitting in this chair ever since they could remember anything Perhaps the younger of them supposed that he and the chair had come into the world together and that both had always been as old as they were now At this time however it happened to be the fashion for ladies to adorn their drawing rooms with the oldest and oddest chairs that could be found The Whole History of Grandfather's Chair Nathaniel Hawthorne,2007-06-15 While narrating the history of the chair the whole history of America initiating from the first settlers to the American war for freedom is narrated The whole tale is related in an amazing manner The heroic deeds of the soldiers who laid down their lives for their beliefs are inspiringly told The Whole History of Grandfather's Chair Nathaniel Hawthorne,2023-08-30 Reproduction of the original The publishing house Megali specialises in reproducing historical works in large print to make reading easier for people with impaired vision The Whole History of Grandfather's Chair Hawthorne,2016-05-24 This work has been selected by scholars as being culturally important and is part of the knowledge base of civilization as we know it This work was reproduced from the original artifact and remains as true to the original work as possible Therefore you will see the original copyright references library stamps as most of these works have been housed in our most important libraries around the world and other notations in the work This work is in the public domain in the United States of America and possibly other nations Within the United States you may freely copy and distribute this work as no entity individual or corporate has a copyright on the body of the work As a reproduction of a historical artifact this work may contain missing or blurred pages poor pictures errant marks etc Scholars believe and we concur that this work is important enough to be preserved reproduced and made generally available to the public We appreciate your support of the preservation process and thank you for being an important part of keeping this knowledge alive and relevant The Whole History of Grandfather's Chair Nathaniel Hawthorne,2014-03 This Is A New Release Of The Original 1878 Edition The Whole History of Grandfather's Chair Nathaniel Hawthorne,1903 The Whole History of Grandfather's Chair; Or, True Stories from New England History, 1620-1803 Nathaniel Hawthorne,2017-08-14 Trieste Publishing has a massive catalogue of classic book titles Our aim is to provide readers with the highest quality reproductions of fiction and non fiction literature that has stood the test of time The many thousands of books in our collection have been sourced from libraries and private collections around the world The titles that Trieste Publishing has chosen to be part of the collection have been scanned to simulate the original Our readers see the books the same way that their first readers did decades or a hundred or more years ago Books from that period are often spoiled by imperfections that did not exist in the original Imperfections
