

The background of the slide is a scenic landscape photograph. It shows a deep, green valley with a river winding through it. In the distance, a mountain range is visible, partially shrouded in mist or low clouds. A cable car or gondola is seen crossing the valley, suspended from a cable that stretches across the frame. The overall tone of the image is serene and natural.

Petrinovich, The Cannibal Within offers an evolutionary account of the propensity of human beings in extreme circumstances to eat other human beings despite the strong Western taboo against such practices What sets this volume apart from the large body of literature on cannibalism both popular and anthropological is the underlying premise cannibalism as an alternative to starvation is tacitly condoned by the same biological morality that would condemn cannibalism of other sorts in non threatening situations Deep as the taboos may be the survival instinct runs even deeper The title of the book reflects the author s belief that cannibalism is not a pathology that erupts in psychotic individuals but is a universal adaptive strategy that is evolutionarily sound The cannibal is within all of us and cannibals are within all cultures should the circumstances demand cannibalism s appearance and usage Petrinovich s work is rich in historical detail and rises to a level of theoretical sophistication in addressing a subject too often dealt with in sensationalist terms The major instances in which survival cannibalism has occurred convinced the author that there is a consistent pattern and a uniform regularity of order in which different kinds of individuals are consumed In considering who eats whom when and under what circumstances this regularity appears and it is consistent with what would be expected on the basis of evolutionary or Darwinian theory In short he concludes that starvation cannibalism is not a manifestation of the chaotic psychotic behavior of individuals who are driven to madness but reveals underlying characteristics of evolved human beings Lewis Petrinovich is professor emeritus in the Department of Psychology of the University of California Riverside and is currently a resident of Berkeley California Morality and Cultural Differences John W. Cook, 1999-01-28 The scholars who defend or dispute moral relativism the idea that a moral principle cannot be applied to people whose culture does not accept it have concerned themselves with either the philosophical or anthropological aspects of relativism This study shows that in order to arrive at a definitive appraisal of moral relativism it is necessary to understand and investigate both its anthropological and philosophical aspects Carefully examining the arguments for and against moral relativism Cook exposes not only that anthropologists have failed in their attempt to support relativism with evidence of cultural differences but that moral absolutists have been equally unsuccessful in their attempts to refute it He argues that these conflicting positions are both guilty of an artificial and unrealistic view of morality and proposes a more subtle and complex account of morality Fair Girls and Grey Horses Christine Pullein-Thompson,Diana Pullein-Thompson,Josephine Pullein-Thompson,2014-07-24 Are your twins normal Mrs Pullein Thompson was asked Good God I hope not she retorted The twins were Diana and Christine who with their elder sister Josephine wrote more than 150 books which have sold in their millions around the world Fifty years after the joint publication of their first book It Began with Picotee the siblings wrote about their extraordinary childhood with lovable but often unreliable animals and unforgettable humans Their charming nostalgic memoir offers a glimpse into the lives of three remarkable sisters who went on to become household names to a generation of readers
