of the 1930s By far the most recognizable New Deal art employed an endless frieze of white or racially ambiguous machine proletarians from solo drillers to identical assembly line toilers Even today such paintings particularly those with work themes are almost instantly recognizable Happening on a Depression era picture one can see from a distance the often simplified figures the intense or bold colors the frozen motion or flattened perspective and the uniformity of laboring bodies within an often naive realism or naturalism of treatment In a kind of Social Realist dance the FAP's imagined drillers haulers construction workers welders miners and steel mill workers make up a rugged industrial army In an unusual synthesis of art and working class history Labor's Canvas argues that however simplified this golden age of American worker art appears from a post modern perspective The New Deal's Federal Art Project FAP under the aegis of the Works Progress Administration WPA revealed important tensions Artists saw themselves as cultural workers who had much in common with the blue collar workforce Yet they struggled to reconcile social protest and aesthetic distance Their canvases prints and drawings registered attitudes toward laborers as bodies without minds often shared by the wider culture In choosing a visual language to reconnect workers to the larger society they tried to tell the worker from the work with varying success Drawing on a wealth of social documents and visual narratives Labor's Canvas engages in a bold revisionism Hapke examines how FAP iconography both chronicles and reframes working class history She demonstrates how the New Deal's artistically rendered workforce history reveals the cultural contradictions about laboring people evident even in the depths of the Great Depression not the least in the imaginations of the FAP artists themselves

North American Women Artists of the Twentieth Century Jules Heller, Nancy G. Heller, 2013-12-19 First Published in 1997 North American Women Artists of the Twentieth Century A Biographical Dictionary was created to fill a gap of there being a comprehensive reference work like this available even though the bibliography in English on various aspects of the history of women artists has grown exponentially during the past ten years As researchers the editors have been frustrated many times by being unable to locate basic information about many of the artists included in this volume especially those working outside the United States This leads directly to another reason for producing this particular kind of reference book to try and create a better understanding between and among the artists and art audiences in these countries

Progressive Printmakers Warrington Colescott, 1999 An important verbal and visual document of a great period of American printmaking Gordon W Gilkey Pacific Northwest College of Art and Curator of Prints and Drawings Portland Art Museum A superb chronicle of a unique period in the development of printmaking in the U S in the post World War II years This is an excellent history of a gifted group of artist professors who through their creative and innovative approach to the teaching of printmaking helped to initiate a renaissance in printmaking that has become a singular addition to twentieth century American artistic expression Clare Romano Pratt Institute and John Ross Manhattanville College Printmaking exploded on the American art scene after World War II rapidly expanding from New York to the Midwest and beyond Central to this movement and its development was the University of Wisconsin Madison where a group of talented young artists was making prints and developing a print curriculum Progressive Printmakers documents in words and stunning pictures the breakthrough aesthetics and technical innovations that made the Madison printmakers a force in the art world In lively memoirs and analyses the artists tell the story of the evolving print program at Madison The distinguished print historian the late James Watrous provides an introductory overview placing the program s development in the national context of the American print renaissance A concluding chapter traces the founding of Tandem Press an exciting extension of the Wisconsin print curriculum As Watrous notes the University s commitment has been renewed again and again during a half century when printmaking flourished in America as never before Artists featured Alfred Sessler Dean Meeker Warrington Colescott Raymond Gloeckler Jack Damer Walter Hamady William Weege Frances Myers David Becker The Amateur Photographer & Photography ,1919 The Westminster Review ,1896 The Third Chapter Sara Lawrence-Lightfoot,2009-01-06 In the twenty first century a developmental phase of life is emerging as significant and distinct capturing our interest engaging our curiosity and expanding our understanding of human potential and development Demographers talk about this new chapter in life as characterized by people between fifty and seventy five who are considered neither young nor old In our third chapters we are beginning to redefine our views about the casualties and opportunities of aging we are challenging cultural definitions of strength maturity power and sexiness This is a chapter in life when the traditional norms rules and rituals of our careers seem less encompassing and restrictive when many women and men seem to be embracing new challenges and searching for greater meaning in life In The Third Chapter the renowned sociologist Dr Sara Lawrence Lightfoot offers a strong counterpoint to the murky ambivalence that shrouds our clear view of people in their third chapters She challenges the still prevailing and anachronistic images of aging by documenting and revealing the ways in which the years between fifty and seventy five may in fact be the most transformative and generative time in our lives tracing the ways in which wisdom experience and new learning inspire individual growth and cultural transformation The women and men whose voices fill the pages of The Third Chapter tell passionate and poignant stories of risk and vulnerability failure and resilience challenge and mastery experimentation and improvisation and insight and new learning The Cultivated Landscape Craig Pearson,Judith Nasby,2008-08-11 By the late twentieth century idyllic depictions of eighteenth century manorial landscapes had become artistic expressions of dislocation Western agricultural paradigms had shifted as had the relationship between art and agriculture The Cultivated Landscape uses over seventy illustrations to look at the development of Western agriculture from feudal times to the present The American Annual of Photography and Photographic Times Almanac for ... ,1886 Lizards on the Mantel, Burros at the Door Etta Koch,June Cooper Price,2010-07-05 A warm witty memoir of a young family s rugged adventure living in the newly established Big Bend National Park in the 1940s A woman who went West with her husband in the 1840s must have expected hardships and privation but during the 1940s

when Etta Koch stopped off in Big Bend with her young family and a twenty three foot travel trailer in tow which they named Porky the Road Hog she anticipated a brief civilized camping trip between her old home in Ohio and a new one in Arizona It was only when she found herself moving into an old rock house without plumbing or electricity in the new Big Bend National Park that Etta realized she'd left her sheltered life behind for an experience in frontier living In this book based on her journals and letters Etta Koch and her daughter June Cooper Price chronicle their family's first years 1944-1946 in the Big Bend Etta describes how her photographer husband Peter Koch became captivated by the region as a place for natural history filmmaking and how she and their three young daughters slowly adapted to a pioneer lifestyle during his months long absences on the photo lecture circuit In vivid often humorous anecdotes she describes making the rock house into a home getting to know the Park Service personnel and other neighbors coping with the local wildlife and most of all learning to love the rugged landscape and the hardy individuals who call it home
