D+E. Design & Environment ,1971    Thinking in Art Charles M. Dorn,1994

This volume examines the way individuals think about objects and events in the world These thoughts specify a priori assumptions that indicate what will be considered beautiful valuable and good Decisions made about these matters determine what actions will be taken in regard to them

The continuous change that historically characterizes art educational practices is driven by shifts in ways of thinking beliefs

Curricular goals for art education must be consistent with ways of thinking

The text is organized into five chapters Chapter 1 provides a brief review of 18th and 19th philosophical thought and the concepts of relations between objects and events Chapter 2 explores these concepts as interpreted by 20th century aestheticians art historians critics and artists specifically as they concern thinking about and making art Chapter 3 examines paradigms for artistic conception Chapter 4 identifies how these paradigms now function in the art curricula of schools and chapter 5 how the paradigms relate to curriculum practice

MM    Algorithms for Graphics and Image Processing T. Pavlidis,2012-12-06

The technological developments of the last ten years have made computer graphics and image processing by computer popular

Pictorial pattern recognition has also shown significant progress Clearly there exist overlapping interests among the three areas of research Graphic displays are of concern to anyone involved in image processing or pictorial pattern recognition and many problems in graphics require methodologies from image processing for their solutions The data structures used in all three areas are similar It seems that there is a common body of knowledge underlying all three areas pictorial information processing by computer The novelty of these fields makes it difficult to design a course or to write a book covering their basic concepts Some of the treatises on graphics focus on the hardware and methods of current interest while treatises on image processing often emphasize applications and classical signal processing The fast evolution of technology causes such material to lose its relevance For example the development of optical fibers has reduced the importance of bandwidth compression
