Advancing Relational Leadership Research Mary Uhl-Bien, Sonia M. Ospina, 2012-10-01 Leaders and followers live in a relational world a world in which leadership occurs in complex webs of relationships and dynamically changing contexts Despite this our theories of leadership are grounded in assumptions of individuality and linear causality If we are to advance understandings of leadership that have more relevance to the world of practice we need to embed issues of relationality into leadership studies This volume addresses this issue by bringing together for the first time a set of prominent scholars from different paradigmatic and disciplinary perspectives to engage in dialogue regarding how to meet the challenges of relationality in leadership research and practice Included are cutting edge thinking heated debate and passionate perspectives on the issues at hand The chapters reveal the varied and nuanced treatments of relationality that come from authors alternative paradigmatic entity constructionist critical views Dialogue scholars reacting to the chapters engage in spirited debate regarding the commensurability or incommensurability of the paradigmatic approaches The editors bring the dialogue together with introductory and concluding chapters that offer a framework for comparing and situating the competing assumptions and perspectives spanning the relational leadership landscape Using paradigm interplay they unpack assumptions and lay out a roadmap for relational leadership research A key takeaway is that advancing relational leadership research requires multiple paradigmatic perspectives and scholars who are conversant in the assumptions brought by these perspectives The book is aimed at those who feel that much of current leadership thinking is missing the boat in today's complex relational world It provides an essential resource for all leadership scholars and practitioners curious about the nature of research on leadership both those with much research exposure and those new to the field The SAGE Encyclopedia of Leadership Studies George R. Goethals, Scott T. Allison, Georgia J. Sorenson, 2023-02-20 Leadership Studies is a multi disciplinary academic exploration of the various aspects of how people get along and how together they get things done The fields that contribute to leadership studies include history political science psychology anthropology sociology philosophy literature and behavioral economics Leadership Studies is also about the ethical dimensions of human behavior The discipline considers what leadership has been in the past the historical view what leadership actually looks like in the present principally from the perspectives of the behavioral sciences and political science and what leadership should be the ethical perspective The SAGE Encyclopedia of Leadership Studies will present both key concepts and research illuminating leadership and many of the most important events in human history that reveal the nuances of leadership good and bad Entries will include topics such as power charisma identity persuasion personality social intelligence gender justice unconscious conceptions of leadership leader follower relationships and moral transformation Leadership in Nonprofit Organizations Kathryn A. Agard, 2011 Leadership in Non Profit Organizations tackles issues and leadership topics for those seeking to understand more about this dynamic sector of society A major focus of this two volume reference work is on the specific roles and skills required of the non profit leader in voluntary organizations Key features include contributions from a wide range of authors who reflect the variety vibrancy and creativity of the sector itself an overview of the history of non profit organizations in the United States description of a robust and diverse assortment of organizations and opportunities for leadership an exploration of the nature of leadership and its complexity as exemplified in the non profit sector availability both in print and online this title will form part of the 2010 Encyclopedia Collection on SAGE Reference Online The Handbook includes topics such as personalities of non profit leaders vision and starting a nonprofit organization nonprofit law statutes taxation and regulations strategic management financial management collaboration public relations for promoting a non profit organization human resource policies and procedures Enhancing Campus Capacity for Leadership Adrianna Kezar, Jaime Lester, 2011-07-26 Enhancing Campus Capacity for Leadership explores a mostly untapped resource on college campuses the leadership potential of staff and faculty at all levels This book contributes to the growing tradition of giving voice to grassroots leaders offering a unique contribution by honing in on leadership in educational settings In an increasingly corporatized environment grassroots leadership can provide a balance to the prestige and revenue seeking impulses of campus leaders act as a conscience for institutional operations with greater integrity create changes related to the teaching and learning core build greater equity improve relationships among campus stakeholders and enhance the student experience The text documents the stories of grassroots leaders including the motivation and background of these bottom up beacons the tactics and strategies that they use the obstacles they overcome and the ways that they navigate power and join with formal authority This investigation also showcases how grassroots leaders in institutional settings particularly more marginalized groups can face significant backlash While we like to believe that organizations are civil and humane the stories in this book demonstrate a dark side with which we must reckon The book ends with a discussion of the future of leadership on college campuses examining the possibilities for shared and collaborative forms of leadership and governance
