Graves Without Crosses:

Graves Without Crosses Arved Viirldaid, 1972 A fictionalized account about the resistance movement in Estonia following the occupation of that country by the Soviets in January 1944

Voices of the Victims Hannes H. Gissurarson, In the 20th century communism claimed the lives of at least 100 million people But often it is regarded with more sympathy than the other deadly totalitarian creed national socialism Despite several plausible accounts of famines mass executions labour camps and oppression many Western intellectuals were either supporters or fellow travellers of the communists This illustrated report is about some of the most noteworthy books travelogues novels memories and historical treatises that came out in the great struggle between totalitarian communism and liberal democracy from the 1917 Bolshevik Revolution onwards

War in the Woods M. Laar, 1992 With the Soviet reoccupation after World War II Estonians faced a choice of submitting to Communist puppets or trying to survive in the traditional refuge of their forests while waiting for help from the West which never came Those who chose the second course Estonia's Forest Brothers mounted an armed resistance which for more than a decade seriously challenged Soviet rule This is their story told for the first time by sources within Estonia This account is drawn from interviews with Forest Brothers who survived and relatives of those who died and from documents and photographs from Soviet KGB files It reflects Estonian courage and humor the faith and sacrifice of a people suppressed and the indomitable determination of a free nation to regain independence

The Cross Goes North Martin Carver, 2005 37 studies of the adoption of Christianity across northern Europe over 1000 years and the diverse reasons that drove the process In Europe the cross went north and east as the centuries unrolled from the Dingle Peninsula to Estonia and from the Alps to Lapland ranging in time from Roman Britain and Gaul in the third and fourth centuries to the conversion of peoples in the Baltic area a thousand years later These episodes of conversion form the basic narrative here History encourages the belief that the adoption of Christianity was somehow irresistible but specialists show the underside of the process by turning the spotlight from the missionaries who recorded their triumphs to the converted exploring their local situations and motives What were the reactions of the northern peoples to the Christian message Why would they wish to adopt it for the sake of its alliances In what way did they adapt the Christian ethos and infrastructure to suit their own community How did conversion affect the status of farmers of smiths of princes and of women Was society wholly changed or only in marginal matters of devotion and superstition These are the issues discussed here by thirty eight experts from across northern Europe some answers come from astute re readings of the texts alone but most are owed to a combination of history art history and archaeology working together

Chevengur Andrey Platonov, 2024-01-02 A sort of Soviet Don Quixote this novel about a craftsman who wanders the U S S R hoping to ease human misery with his inventions is considered one of the most important novels of the Soviet era and is now available in its full version in English for the first time Chevengur is a revolutionary novel about revolutionary ardor and despair Zakhar Pavlovich comes from a world of traditional crafts to work as a train mechanic motivated by his belief in the transformative power of industry His adopted son Sasha Dvanov embraces revolution which will transform everything the words we speak and the lives we live souls and bodies the soil underfoot and the sun overhead

Seeking communism Dvanov joins up with Stepan Kopionkin a warrior for the cause whose steed is the fearsome cart horse Strength of the Proletariat Together they cross the steppe encountering counterrevolutionaries desperados and visionaries of all kinds At last they reach the isolated town of Chevengur There communism is believed to have been achieved because everything that is not communism has been eliminated And yet even in Chevengur the revolution recedes from sight Comic ironic grotesque disturbingly poetic in its use of language and profoundly sorrowful Chevengur here published in a new English translation based on the most authoritative Russian text is the most ambitious of the extraordinary novels that the great Andrey Platonov wrote in the 1920s and 1930s when Soviet Russia was moving from revolutionary euphoria to state terror

Alleged Executions Without Trial in France United States. Congress. Senate. Special Committee on Alleged Executions Without Trial in France,1923 Death and Burial in Socialist Yugoslavia Carol S. Lilly,2024-02-08 Across the globe memorial and grave sites are being increasingly weaponized in conflicts and politicized by parties to advance agendas Here Carol S Lilly examines ideas of death politics memory ideology and nationalism in the former Yugoslav republics of Bosnia Hercegovina Croatia and Serbia to shine fresh light on cemetery culture in 20th century Europe More specifically Death and Burial in Socialist Yugoslavia argues that while the CPY created its own communities of the dead in postwar Partisan Cemeteries it failed to do the same for civilian cemeteries in ways that might reinforce its ideals of secularism pluralism and brotherhood and unity Moreover the communist regime left the previous system of ethno religious segregation in place further isolating Catholics Orthodox Muslims and Jews who continued to be buried in separate locations Finally it explicitly politicized burial rites and grave markers making cemeteries into legitimate spaces of political discourse As a result by the time Yugoslavia disintegrated in the early 1990s dead bodies and cemeteries had become a concerted weapon of war in the ongoing ethnic conflict Ultimately then this timely study reveals for the first time the extent to which the communist regime not only failed to created their own communities of the dead but also further divided and alienated living communities in Yugoslavia

wreath at the foot of the Aviator a statue erected by Sallie Maxwell Bennett bearing the likeness of her son Louis Bennett Jr West Virginia's only First World War flying ace Though largely unknown today Bennett was an airpower innovator whose tragically short combat career would have an enduring impact on American flight and on war memorials both at home and abroad In Balloon Ace The Life of an Early Airpower Visionary historian Charles Dusch reconstructs Louis Bennett Jr's lost legacy Advocating for a national aviation reserve years before the writings of Billy Mitchell Bennett created a state aerial militia in 1917 complete with supporting airbases and an airplane factory When the US Army refused to accept his unit a frustrated Bennett joined the Royal Air Force to fight on the Western Front destroying nine German balloons and three aircraft in a matter of days before he himself was shot down In the second act of Bennett's story Dusch traces Sallie Bennett's quest to clandestinely recover her son's body Posing as a journalist Sallie traveled to Europe searching the cemeteries on the Western Front and later commissioned twelve memorials to Bennett including a chapel in France the RAF window in Westminster Abbey and the Aviator at Linsly Moved by the vast destruction of the continent she would eventually cross political boundaries to bring much needed publicity to other mothers demands for the US government to repatriate their own fallen loved ones From West Virginia to the Western Front and back again Balloon Ace is more than a multifaceted and insightful account of the pioneer aviators who prepared the United States for combat in the first air war it is also a remarkable look at the commemoration culture that spanned the American Civil War to war torn Europe in the early twentieth century

After Memory Matthias Schwartz, Nina Weller, Heike Winkel, 2021-06-08 Even seventy five years after the end of World War II the commemorative cultures surrounding the War and the Holocaust in Central Eastern and South Eastern Europe are anything but fixed The fierce debates on how to deal with the past among the newly constituted nation states in these regions have already received much attention by scholars in cultural and memory studies The present volume posits that literature as a medium can help us understand the shifting attitudes towards World War II and the Holocaust in post Communist Europe in recent years These shifts point to new commemorative cultures shaping up after memory Contemporary literary representations of World War II and the Holocaust in Eastern Europe do not merely extend or replace older practices of remembrance and testimony but reflect on these now defunct or superseded narratives New narratives of remembrance are conditioned by a fundamentally new social and political context one that emerged from the devaluation of socialist commemorative rituals and as a response to the loss of private and family memory narratives The volume offers insights into the diverse literatures of Eastern Europe and their ways of depicting the area's contested heritage
