Crow, 2008-04-15 The Blackwell Companion to American Regional Literature is the most comprehensive resource yet published for study of this popular field The most inclusive survey yet published of American regional literature Represents a wide variety of theoretical and historical approaches Surveys the literature of specific regions from California to New England and from Alaska to Hawaii Discusses authors and groups who have been important in defining regional American literature      Parting the Mormon Veil Ángel Chaparro Sanz, 2017-07-27 Este libro supone una invitación para descubrir la cultura y la literatura mormonas desde una perspectiva muy personal así como un viaje fascinante al territorio literario de

Phyllis Barber una vasta extensión de un terreno físico y emocional donde los límites se entrecruzan y el tiempo tejidos que trascienden la narrativa. Nigel Chaparro analiza el proyecto social y cultural de la ficción y las autobiografías de Phyllis Barber examina la influencia de la cultura mormona del paisaje del Oeste americano y de los acontecimientos históricos en su escritura y trata de anticipar el espacio que sus libros ocupan en el desarrollo en curso de la literatura mormona y de la cultura del Oeste americano. Este original análisis va precedido de una historia de La Iglesia de Jesucristo de los Santos de los Últimos Días.

Homelands Richard L. Nostrand, Lawrence E. Estaville, 2003-05-01 What does it mean to be from somewhere? If most people in the United States are from some place else, what is an American homeland? In answering these questions, the contributors to Homelands: A Geography of Culture and Place across America offer a geographical vision of territory and the formation of discrete communities in the U.S. today. Homelands discusses groups such as the Yankees in New England, Old Order Amish in Ohio, African Americans in the plantation South, Navajos in the Southwest, Russians in California, and several other peoples and places. Homelands explores the connection of people and place by showing how aspects of several different North American groups found their niche and created a homeland. A collection of fifteen essays, Homelands is an innovative look at geographical concepts in community settings. It is also an exploration of the academic work taking place about homelands and their people of how factors such as culture, settlement, and cartographic concepts come together in American sociology. There is much not only to study but also to celebrate about American homelands. As the editors state, "Underlying today's pluralistic society are homelands, large and small, strong and weak, that endure in some way. The mosaic of homelands to which people are bonded in greater or lesser degrees affirms in a holistic way America's diversity, its pluralistic society." The authors depict the cultural effects of immigrant settlement. The conviction that people need to participate in the life of the homeland to achieve their own self-realization within the traditions and comforts of that community. Homelands gives us a new map of the United States, a map drawn with people's lives and the land that is their home.

Reading the West Michael Kowalewski, 1996-02-23 The American West of myth and legend has always exerted a strong hold on the popular imagination, and the essays in Reading the West examine some of the basis of that fascination. Reading the West, first published in 1996, is a collection of critical essays by writers, independent scholars, and critics on the literature of the American West in the last two centuries. It showcases new ways of reading and understanding western writing. Arguing for the importance of place in literature, these essays explore what makes representative literary works western. They also explore the multicultural and ecological dimensions of western writing. This volume helps enrich our understanding of a distinguished body of literary work which has sometimes been unjustly ignored. It deals not only with literature but with the changing conception of the West in the American imagination.

American Women Conservationists Madelyn Holmes, 2004-04-20 This collection of biographies describes twelve women conservationists who helped change the ways Americans interact with the natural environment. Their writings led Americans to think differently about their land: deserts are not wastelands, swamps have value, and harmful insects don't have to be controlled chemically These women not only wrote on behalf of conservation of the American landscape but also described strategies for living exemplary environmentally sound lives during the past century From a bird lover to a back to the land activist these women gave early warning of the detrimental effects of neglecting conservation The main part of this work covers six historical figures who pioneered in their thinking and writing about the environment Mary Austin Florence Merriam Bailey Rosalie Edge Marjory Stoneman Douglas Helen Nearing and Rachel Carson A later chapter gives portraits of six post World War II conservationists Faith McNulty Ann Zwinger Sue Hubbell Anne LaBastille Mollie Beattie and Terry Tempest Williams The work covers a broad range of conservationist concerns including preservation of deserts and old growth forests wildlife protection wetlands maintenance self sufficient sustainable ways of producing food and pollution control A conclusion examines where conservationists have picked up after Rachel Carson's Silent Spring 1962 and gives conservation ideas for our time An appendix lists the published writings of the twelve conservationists

Edward Abbey James M. Cahalan, 2001-09 Delves into the private life of twentieth century American novelist and environmentalist Edward Abbey or Cactus Ed showing the man behind the persona he put forth as a writer and a public speaker

Willa Cather's Ecological Imagination Susan J. Rosowski, 2003-01-01 The wide ranging essays collected in this volume of Cather Studies examine Willa Cather's unique artistic relationship to the environment Under the theoretical rubric of ecocriticism these essays focus on Cather's close observations of the natural world and how the environment proves for most of these contributors to be more than simply a setting for her characters While it is certain that Cather's novels and short stories are deeply grounded in place literary critics are only now considering how place functions within her narratives and addressing environmental issues through her writing These essays reintroduce us to a Cather who is profoundly identified with the places that shaped her and that she wrote about Glen A Love offers an interdisciplinary reading of The Professor's House that is scientifically oriented Joseph Urgo argues that My Antonia models a preservationist aesthetic in which landscape and memory are inextricably entangled Thomas J Lyon posits that Cather had a living sense of the biotic community and used nature as the standard of excellence for human endeavors and Jan Goggans considers the ways that My Antonia shifts from nativism toward a flexible notion of place based community
