Beast-People Onscreen and in Your Brain Mark Pizzato, 2016-02-22 A new take on our bio cultural evolution explores how the inner theatre of the brain and its animal human stages are reflected in and shaped by the mirror of cinema Vampire werewolf and ape planet films are perennial favorites perhaps because they speak to something primal in human nature This intriguing volume examines such films in light of the latest developments in neuroscience revealing ways in which animal human monster movies reflect and affect what we naturally imagine in our minds Examining specific films as well as early cave images the book discusses how certain creatures on rock walls and movie screens express animal to human evolution and the structures of our brains The book presents a new model of the human brain with its theatrical cinematic and animal elements It also develops a theory of rasa catharsis as the clarifying of emotions within and between spectators of the stage or screen drawing on Eastern and Western aesthetics as well as current neuroscience It focuses on the inner movie theater of memories dreams and reality representations involving developmental stages as well as the hall of mirrors ape egos and body swapping identifications between human beings Finally the book shows how ironic twists onscreen especially of contradictory emotions might evoke a reappraisal of feelings helping spectators to be more attentive to their own impulses Through this interdisciplinary study scholars artists and general readers will find a fresh way to understand the potential for interactive mindfulness and yet cathartic backfire between human brains in cinema in theater and in daily life Great

Apes Leach, 1996-02 On the Origin of Societies by Natural Selection Jonathan H. Turner, Alexandra Maryanski, 2015-11-17 Kinship religion and economy were not natural to humans nor to species of apes that had to survive on the African savanna Society from its very beginnings involved an uneasy necessity that often stood in conflict with humans ape ancestry these tensions only grew along with later more complex eventually colossal sociocultural systems The ape in us was not extinguished nor obviated by culture indeed our ancestry continues to place pressures on individuals and their sociocultural creations Not just an exercise in history this pathbreaking book dispels many myths about the beginning of society to gain new understandings of the many pressures on societies today Body - Language - Communication. Volume 1 Cornelia Müller, Alan Cienki, Ellen Fricke, Silva Ladewig, David McNeill, Sedinha Tessendorf, 2013-10-14 Volume I of the handbook presents contemporary multidisciplinary historical theoretical and methodological aspects of how body movements relate to language It documents how leading scholars from different disciplinary backgrounds conceptualize and analyze this complex relationship Five chapters and a total of 72 articles present current and past approaches including multidisciplinary methods of analysis The chapters cover I How the body relates to language and communication Outlining the subject matter II Perspectives from different disciplines III Historical dimensions IV Contemporary approaches V Methods Authors include Michael Arbib Janet Bavelas Marino Bonaiuto Paul Bouissac Judee Burgoon Martha Davis Susan Duncan Konrad Ehlich Nick Enfield Pierre Feyereisen Raymond W Gibbs Susan Goldin Meadow Uri Hadar Adam Kendon

Antja Kennedy David McNeill Lorenza Mondada Fernando Poyatos Klaus Scherer Margret Selting Jürgen Streeck Sherman Wilcox Jeffrey Wollock Jordan Zlatev All Apes Great and Small Biruté M.F. Galdikas, Nancy Erickson Briggs, Lori K. Sheeran, Gary L. Shapiro, Jane Goodall, 2006-04-11 Many of the papers in this volume were first presented at the Third International Great Apes of the World Conference held July 3-6 1998 in Kuching Sarawak Malaysia The editors of this volume the first in a two volume series are world renowned having dedicated most of their lives to the study of great apes The world's premiere primatologists ethologists and anthropologists present the most recent research on both captive and free ranging African great apes These scientists through deep personal commitment and sacrifice have expanded their knowledge of chimpanzees bonobos and gorillas With forests disappearing many of these studies will never be duplicated This volume and all in the Developments in Primatology book series aim to broaden and deepen the understanding of this valuable cause

Gorilla Dreams: the Legacy of Dian Fossey Georgianne Nienaber, 2006-02-21 Imagine that murdered primatologist Dr Dian Fossey of Gorillas in the Mist fame were alive today and able to reflect upon her death as well as her legacy This is the impetus behind author Georgianne Nienaber's compelling work Gorilla Dreams The Legacy of Dian Fossey At the beginning of Gorilla Dreams Fossey attends her own funeral and watches her murdered gorillas interacting with the graveside bystanders She establishes a new relationship with the slain gorilla Digit who acts as her guide after death as she carefully reviews her life its challenges successes hardships and the ultimate closure of her murder Although Fossey's death is officially unsolved recently released documents obtained through the Freedom of Information Act as well as testimony from the International War Crimes Tribunal proceedings offer new suspects motives and opportunities Every fact about Fossey's life is meticulously annotated However the setting of her conversations with the murdered gorillas is obviously fictional yet steeped in African tradition Gorilla Dreams The Legacy of Dian Fossey is a biographical interpretation of the famed primatologist's life that honors the African belief that the dead live on in spiritual form Handbook of Neurosociology

David D. Franks, Jonathan H. Turner, 2012-07-09 Until recently a handbook on neurosociology would have been viewed with skepticism by sociologists who have long been protective of their disciplinary domain against perceived encroachment by biology But a number of developments in the last decade or so have made sociologists more receptive to biological factors in sociology and social psychology Much of this has been encouraged by the coeditors of this volume David Franks and Jonathan Turner This new interest has been increased by the explosion of research in neuroscience on brain functioning and brain environment interaction via new MRI technologies with implications for social and psychological functioning This handbook emphasizes the integration of perspectives within sociology as well as between fields in social neuroscience For example Franks represents a social constructionist position following from G. H. Mead's voluntaristic theory of the act while Turner is more social structural and positivistic Furthermore this handbook not only contains contributions from sociologists but leading figures from the psychological perspective of social neuroscience The Well-Dressed Ape Hannah

Holmes,2009-01-20 DID YOU KNOW THAT we have more hair follicles than a chimpanzee a male boxer in top condition can punch with the force of a thirteen pound mallet swung at twenty miles an hour the best human endurance runners can outlast a horse one odor above all is sexually stimulating to the human male cinnamon buns our home building skills compare nicely with those of the bagworm With dry wit and penetrating insight science journalist Hannah Holmes casts the eye of a trained researcher and reporter on herself And on our whole species She compares the biology and behavior of humans with that of other creatures exploring how the human animal fits into the natural world Holmes also reveals the ways in which Homo sapiens stands apart from other mammals and all other animals in ways that are alternately admirable and devastating Deftly mixing personal stories with the latest scientific research Hannah Holmes has fashioned an engaging field guide to that oddest and most fascinating of primates ourselves Bonobo Frans B. M. de Waal,Frans Lanting,2023-11-15 This remarkable primate with the curious name is challenging established views on human evolution The bonobo least known of the great apes is a female centered egalitarian species that has been dubbed the make love not war primate by specialists In bonobo society females form alliances to intimidate males sexual behavior in virtually every partner combination replaces aggression and serves many social functions and unrelated groups mingle instead of fighting The species s most striking achievement is not tool use or warfare but sensitivity to others In the first book to combine and compare data from captivity and the field Frans de Waal a world renowned primatologist and Frans Lanting an internationally acclaimed wildlife photographer present the most up to date perspective available on the bonobo Focusing on social organization de Waal compares the bonobo with its better known relative the chimpanzee The bonobo s relatively nonviolent behavior and the tendency for females to dominate males confront the evolutionary models derived from observing the chimpanzee s male power politics cooperative hunting and intergroup warfare Further the bonobo s frequent imaginative sexual contacts along with its low reproduction rate belie any notion that the sole natural purpose of sex is procreation Humans share over 98 percent of their genetic material with the bonobo and the chimpanzee Is it possible that the peaceable bonobo has retained traits of our common ancestor that we find hard to recognize in ourselves Eight superb full color photo essays offer a rare view of the bonobo in its native habitat in the rain forests of Zaire as well as in zoos and research facilities Additional photographs and highlighted interviews with leading bonobo experts complement the text This book points the way to viable alternatives to male based models of human evolution and will add considerably to debates on the origin of our species Anyone interested in primates gender issues evolutionary psychology and exceptional wildlife photography will find a fascinating companion in Bonobo The Forgotten Ape This remarkable primate with the curious name is challenging established views on human evolution The bonobo least known of the great apes is a female centered egalitarian species that has been dubbed the make love not war primate by specialists In The Natural Genesis (Two Volumes in One) Gerald Massey,2011-12-01 Egyptologist Gerald Massey challenged readers in A Book of the Beginnings to consider the argument that Egypt was the birthplace of civilization and that the widespread monotheistic vision of man and the metaphysical was in fact based on ancient Egyptian mythos In The Natural Genesis presented here in an omnibus edition Massey delivers a sequel delving deeper into his compelling polemic In Volume I he offers a more intellectual fine tuned analysis of the development of society out of Egypt From the simplest signs numbers the cross to the grandest archetypes darkness the mother figure Massey carefully and confidently lays the cultural and psychosocial bricks of evolutionism Volume II provides detailed discourse on the Egyptian origin of the delicate components of the monotheistic creed With his agile prose Massey leads an adventurous examination of the epistemology of astronomy time and Christology and what it all means for human culture

Kissing Cousins Frances Bartkowski, 2008-09-18 Since DNA has replaced blood as the medium through which we establish kinship how do we determine with whom we are kin Who counts among those we care for The distinction between these categories is constantly in flux How do we come to decide those we may kiss and those we may kill Focusing on narratives of kinship as they are defined in contemporary film literature and news media Frances Bartkowski discusses the impact of stories of origin on our regard for nonhuman species She locates the role of totems and taboos in forming and re forming kinship categories groupings that enable us to tie the personal to the social and explores the bestiary among the oldest of literary forms The bestiary is the realm in which we allegorize the place of humans and other species a menagerie encompassing animals we know as well as human animal chimeras and other beings that challenge the natural order of the world Yet advances in reproductive technologies the mapping of genomes and the study of primates continually destabilize these categories and recast the dynamic between the natural and the cultural Bartkowski highlights the arbitrariness of traditional kinship arrangements and asks us to rethink our notions of empathy and ethics She shows how current dialogues concerning ethics and desire determine contemporary attitudes toward issues of care and suggests a new framework for negotiating connection and conflict
