Students And Researchers David E. O'connor, 2006 An APEC Trade Agenda? Charles E Morrison, Eduardo Pedrosa, 2007
Assesses the political feasibility of the Free Trade Area of the Asia Pacific FTAAP proposal and looks at alternative modalities for achieving free trade and investment in the Asia Pacific New Frontiers in Free Trade Razeen Sally, 2008-09-09
Razeen Sally argues that international trade policy has lost its way Trade policy has become disconnected from 21st century business and consumer realities The World Trade Organization and free trade agreements have outdated negotiating models and yield diminishing returns The world's fastest growing economies are those in Asia that have embraced freer trade and global integration unilaterally without waiting for trade negotiations Hence the priority should be bottom up unilateral liberalization with China's opening to the world economy leading the way and setting the example for others in Asia and beyond Liberalization should now focus more on domestic regulatory barriers The post Doha WTO will still be important but more as a forum for strengthening trade rules than for driving further liberalization The biggest danger though is complacency and reform fatigue which threatens to halt globalization's advance Sally makes a vigorous case for the benefits of free trade and provides a penetrating analysis of the dangers confronting the world trading system Inspired by the precepts of Adam Smith and David Hume he sets out practical prescriptions for getting trade policy back on the rails as part of a refreshed agenda for freer trade and freer markets that is relevant to the rise of Asia and 21st century globalization Informative well argued and above all highly readable this book is a stimulating contribution to the emerging debate on where trade policy should go in the post Doha world
