Global Knowledge Networks And International Development:

Global Knowledge Networks and International Development Simon Maxwell, Diane L. Stone, Dr Diane L Stone, 2004-08-02 This volume draws together leading experts from academia think tanks and donor agencies to examine the impact of transnational knowledge networks in the formulation of local national and global policy in the field of international development and transition studies These leading contributors pay particular attention to the global reach of research and the manner in which knowledge is incorporated into and shapes transnational policy domains They show how the knowledge agenda has become a central part of the discourse of both developing societies and advanced economies Governments and international organizations devote considerable financial resources to both in house and contracted research This volume will be of great interest to students researchers and policy makers concerned with global policy global governance and development

Global Knowledge Networks and International Development, 2004 Knowledge Actors and Transnational Governance D. Stone, 2013-08-29 Diane Stone addresses the network alliances or partnerships of international organisations with knowledge organisations and networks Moving beyond more common studies of industrial public private partnerships she addresses how and why international organisations and global policy actors need to incorporate ideas expertise and scientific opinion into their global programmes Rather than assuming that the encouragement for evidence informed policy in global and regional institutions of governance is an indisputable public good she queries the influence of expert actors in the growing number of part private or semi public policy networks

Paar-Jakli, 2014-04-29 In today's complex and interconnected world scholars of international relations seek to better understand challenges spurred by intensified global communication and interaction The complex connectedness of modern society and politics compels us to investigate the pattern of interconnections among actors who inhabit social and political spaces Gabriella Paar-Jakli's study aims to advance theory and practice by examining the networks used by specialists in North America and Europe to achieve their policy goals in the area of science and technology Her book suggests that to overcome policy problems transnationally three critical factors should be considered First as science and technology policy becomes increasingly critical to resolving global issues it should be regarded as an integral element of the foreign policy process Second as liberal international relations theory argues the increasing role of NGOs must be taken seriously alongside states as vital agents of policy reform Third as transatlantic relations remain center to maintaining the global order they must be reconsidered Paar-Jakli assesses the role of digital networks as facilitators of regional cooperation Utilizing various techniques of social network analysis her research indicates an active and structurally discernible network in cyberspace among transatlantic organizations and demonstrates the role of virtual networks as facilitators of cooperative arrangements in transatlantic relations Paar-Jakli's original research uses social network analysis to investigate transatlantic cooperation a new approach that will be noteworthy to network and transatlantic scholars as well as policymakers Gender, Power and

Knowledge for Development Lata Narayanaswamy, 2016-12-08 Knowledge for development is under theorised and under researched within development studies but as a set of policy objectives it is thriving within development practice Donors and other agencies are striving to improve the flow of information within and between decision makers and so called poor and marginalized groups in order to promote economic and social development including the empowerment of women Gender Power and Knowledge for Development questions the assumptions and practice of the knowledge for development industry Using a qualitative multi site ethnographical study of a Northern based gender information service and its beneficiaries in India the book queries the utility of the knowledge paradigm itself and the underlying assumption that a knowledge deficit exists in the Global South It questions the value of practices designed to address this presumed deficit that seek to increase information without addressing the specific problems of the knowledge systems being targeted for support After reviewing the evidence the book recommends that international organisations governments and practitioners move away from the belief that information intermediaries can employ progressive correctives to tinker at the edges and thus resolve the shortcomings of on going attempts to use knowledge alone as a driver of development Gender Power and Knowledge for Development will be of great interest to researchers students in development studies gender studies and communication studies as well as INGOs donor agencies and groups engaged in information for development i4D ICT for development ICT4D

Tech4Dev knowledge mobilization and knowledge for development K4D Expert Knowledge in Global Trade Erin Hannah, James Scott, Silke Trommer, 2015-08-27 This book explores tensions in global trade by examining the role of experts in generating disseminating and legitimating knowledge about the possibilities of trade to work for global development To this end contributors assess authoritative claims on knowledge They also consider structural features that uphold trade experts monopoly over knowledge such as expert language and legal and economic expertise The chapters collectively explore the tensions between actors who seek to effect change and those who work to uphold the status quo exacerbate asymmetries and reinforce the dominant narrative of the global trade regime The book addresses the following key overarching research questions Who is considered to be a trade expert and how does one become a knowledge producer in global trade How do experts acquire disseminate and legitimate knowledge What agendas are advanced by expert knowledge How does the discourse generated within trade expertise serve to close off alternative institutional pathways and modes of thinking What potential exists for the emergence of more emancipatory global trade policies from contemporary developments in the field of trade expertise This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of IPE Trade Politics International Relations and International Organizations Social Science and Policy Challenges Georgios Papanagnou, 2011-01-01 Producing scientific knowledge that can inform solutions and guide policy making is one of the most important functions of social science Nonetheless if social science is to become more relevant and influential so as to impact on the drawing and execution of policy certain measures need to be taken to narrow its distance from the policy sphere This decision is less obvious than it seems Both research and experience have proved that policy making is a complex often sub rational interactive process that involves a wide range of actors such as decision makers bureaucrats researchers organized interests citizen and civil society representatives and research brokers In addition social science often needs to defend both its relevance to policy and its own scientific status Moving away from instrumental visions of the link between social research and policy this collective volume aims to highlight the more constructed nature of the use of social knowledge Global Matters for Non-Governmental Public Action J. Howell, 2012-09-24 Jude Howell brings together eight in depth studies of the politics of global non governmental public action Covering detailed empirical research around the themes of environmentalism security children s rights and more the contributors explore the complex politics amongst non governmental public actors acting transnationally The Global Governance of Knowledge Creation and Diffusion Helge Hveem, Lelio Iapadre, 2012-02-27 There is an increasing scientific and political sensibility for questions regarding the governance of a knowledge society and the societal benefits and problems of a knowledge economy The Global Governance of Knowledge provides a survey and analysis of international agreements and institutions global and regional which regulate the creation and dissemination of knowledge The volume utilises case studies and a comparative country thematic approach to provide a comprehensive survey of the regulation and governance of knowledge flow research and innovation By identifying activities creating new knowledge such as education and migration it demonstrates how knowledge regulation and diffusion works in practice and policy The book will be of interest to students and scholars of globalization international relations and policy regulation Actors and Agency in Global Social Governance Alexandra Kaasch,Kerstin Martens,2015-10-22

Actors and Agency in Global Social Governance seeks to advance our understanding of the global dimension of social policy by applying the notion of global social governance on actors their relations to each other and their pathways as well as their footprints of influence in the specific policy fields of social concern in which they are active Focusing on a broad array of individual and corporate global social policy actors ranging from internationally operating intergovernmental organizations to state formations and NGOs the contributions to this volume draw a fuller picture of agency in global social policy than what current accounts provide It considers the multiple facets of individual scope and legitimacy for a particular actor in conjunction with the configuration of global social governance as characterised by multi centred and multi scaled obstacles as well as diverse forms of collaboration The volume studies the contextualised actor s range and power in designing shaping and facilitating various global social policies Thus the contributions discuss the role of particular corporate actors within global social policy structures and assess the impact of a number of key organizations states groups and individuals in the governance of global social policy At the same time a variety of social policy fields in which these actors are involved are addressed including labour market issues family policy health policy education policy migration issues and global re distribution via various forms of development aid or remittances Forests and Rural Development Jürgen

Pretzsch,Dietrich Darr,Holm Ubrig,Eckhard Auch,2014-01-21 This book provides an overview of the complex challenges and opportunities related to forest based rural development in the tropics and subtropics Applying a socio ecological perspective the book traces the changing paradigms of forestry in rural development throughout history summarizes the major aspects of the rural development challenge in forest areas and documents innovative approaches in fields such as land utilization technology and organizational development rural advisory services financing mechanisms participative planning and forest governance It brings together scholars and practitioners dealing with the topics from various theoretical and practical angles Calling for an approach that carefully balances market forces with government intervention the book shows that forests in rural areas have the potential to provide a solid foundation for a green global economy The Owl and the Dove Willemijn Verkoren,2008 Makes concrete recommendations for peacebuilders in conflict torn countries to improve capacity building organisational learning research and networking in locally appropriate ways Local non governmental organisations in conflict torn countries find themselves in rapidly changing circumstances This calls for flexibility and the capacity to learn Locally appropriate ways to deal with conflict are needed but difficult to find Peacebuilders the dove face various constraints as they develop and share their knowledge the owl Based on research carried out mainly in Liberia Sierra Leone Cambodia and the Philippines The Owl and the Dove maps these elements in order to find out how peace workers can become more effective learners It pays attention to exchanges with donor organisations knowledge institutions and networks The book makes concrete recommendations for capacity building organisational learning research and networking so that these activities may help overcome structural inequalities and constraints strengthen the learning capacity of peacebuilders and improve the global knowledge base for better peace policy and practice Policy Reconsidered Susan M. Hodgson,Zoë

Irving,2007-11-21 Identifies key topics within the policy arena and subjects them to sustained theoretical and practical appraisal This book explores the development of the meaning and language of policy and examines its practice from the micro to the supra national levels using case studies to demonstrate how policy is contested shaped and accounted for
