Higher Education in the Global Age Daniel Araya, Peter Marber, 2013-11-20 Discussions on globalization now routinely focus on the economic impact of developing countries in Asia Africa the Middle East the former Soviet Union and Latin America Only twenty five years ago many developing countries were largely closed societies Today the growing power of emerging markets is reordering the geopolitical landscape On a purchasing power parity basis emerging economies now constitute half of the world's economic activity Financial markets too are seeing growing integration Asia now accounts for 1/3 of world stock markets more than double that of just 15 years ago Given current trajectories most economists predict that China and India alone will account for half of global output by 2050 almost a complete return to their positions prior to the Industrial Revolution How is higher education shaping and being shaped by these massive tectonic shifts As education rises as a geopolitical priority it has converged with discussions on economic policy and a global labor market As part of the Routledge Studies in Emerging Societies series this edited collection focuses on the globalization of higher education particularly the increasing symbiosis between advanced and developing countries Bringing together senior scholars journalists and practitioners from around the world this collection explores the relatively new and changing higher education landscape

Financing American Higher Education in the Era of Globalization William Zumeta, David W. Breneman, Patrick M. Callan, Joni E. Finney, 2021-02-23 This ambitious book grows out of the realization that a convergence of economic demographic and political forces in the early twenty first century requires a fundamental reexamination of the financing of American higher education The authors identify and address basic issues and trends that cut across the sectors of higher education focusing on such questions as how much higher education the country needs for individual opportunity and for economic viability in the future how responsibility for paying for it is currently allocated and how financing higher education should be addressed in the future

Global Perspectives on Higher Education Philip G. Altbach, 2016-04-01 The single best book on higher education as a global phenomenon Over the past half century globalization has had a profound impact on postsecondary education The twin forces of mass higher education and the global knowledge economy have driven an unprecedented transformation These fundamental changes have pulled in opposite directions one pushes for wider access and accompanying challenges of quality the other toward exclusive world class research oriented universities In Global Perspectives on Higher Education renowned higher education scholar Philip G Altbach offers a wide ranging perspective on the implications of these key forces and explores how they influence academe everywhere Altbach begins with a discussion of the global trends that increasingly affect higher education including the implications of mass enrollments the logic of mass higher education systems around the world and specific challenges facing Brazil Russia India and China He considers the numerous implications of globalization including the worldwide use of the English language university cross border initiatives the role of research universities in developing countries the impact of the West on Asian universities and the expansion of private higher education Provocative and wide ranging Global Perspectives on Higher Education considers how the international exchange of ideas students and scholars has fundamentally altered higher education

The Globalisation of Higher Education Timothy Hall, Tonia Gray, Greg Downey, Michael Singh, 2018-06-26 This book argues that the neoliberal globalisation of higher education faces a need for recalibration In light of increased concerns from universities in cultivating globalisation this volume brings together a multi ethnic and multilingual team of researchers who argue that the continued development of internationalized education now requires new research and practices As university leaders seek to build the best programs to help students to go abroad they can face a number of challenges risk management negotiating with diverse partners designing rich experience based learning and the hopes fears and limitations of the students themselves Consequently the authors argue that changes are particularly important given the current US centric and UK centric structural readjustments to globalization policies across all fields of higher education and knowledge production This multi perspectival edited collection will appeal to students and scholars of global education globalization and international education

Developing the Global Student David Killick, 2015 Developing the Global Student addresses the question of how students of higher education can emerge from their university life better equipped to dwell more effectively ethically and comfortably amidst the turmoils of a globalising world It does this from a number of theoretical perspectives illustrating the nature of the personal and educational challenges facing the individual student and the teaching professional The book explores the massive social changes wrought by the technologies and mobilities of globalisation particularly how present and future generations will relate to work with and dwell alongside the global other It outlines a range of social psychological and intercultural perspectives on human tendencies to seek out comfort among communities of similitude and illustrates how the experience of life in a global era requires us to transcend the limits of our own biographies and approach University education as a matter of knowledge deconstruction and identity reconstruction rather than reproduction This book brings these considerations directly into the daily business of higher education by drawing out the implications for practice at a number of levels It examines the implications of a globally interconnected world and individual biographies for the design of the curriculum a holistic view of learning in the context of the need to develop the global self what the impact on non academic practice will be if universities as institutions are to enable these changes ways in which the broader student community can transform to offer an experience which is more supportive of the development of global selves Linking theoretical perspectives to present a model of learning as change this book will be of great interest to those working in higher education and particularly to anyone involved in policy design and the delivery of the student experience

Conceptualizing Soft Power of Higher Education Jian Li,2018-09-19 This book examines the globalization trends in higher education from an international political science perspective using Nye s theory of soft power to explore the rationale behind it It focuses on conceptualizing the Soft Power Conversion Model of Higher Education which is embedded in the globalization of higher education and analyzes the globalization of Chinese higher education reform Also this book provides innovative and unique viewpoints on conceptualizing and mapping the globalization and internationalization of higher education especially for current Chinese higher education 1949 2016 It discusses and illustrates cutting edge concepts of global higher education such as global learning global competency and global citizenship and refines them in the conceptualized soft power conversion model of higher education This book reports on and enriches the theoretical concept of global education and provides practical insights into global learning global citizenship and global competency for Chinese undergraduate students

Redefining Asia Pacific Higher Education in Contexts of Globalization: Private Markets and the Public Good

Deane E. Neubauer,2015-10-18 This edited volume addresses the dynamic global contexts redefining Asia Pacific higher education including cross border education capacity and national birthrate profiles pressures created within ranking status systems and complex shifts in the meanings of the public good that influence public education in an increasingly privatized world

The WTO and the University Roberta Malee Bassett,2006 By and large the debate about the merits of including higher education services within free trade policies has occurred outside of the United States even though the U S Office of the Trade Representative has specifically included higher education services in its March 2003 negotiating offer to the General Agreement on Trade in Services GATS This book emerged from research and conversations on the potential implications of free trade on American higher education implications which have yet to lead to any real conversation or debate within the broad higher education community in the United States It fills a niche in the literature on trade and higher education services by providing context and analysis of the trade issue in the American higher education context as well as the pros and cons of free trade in higher education services from the perspectives of the U S based actors

Globalization and Higher Education in India: KSHEC (Pannikar et al),2011 Globalization and Higher Education in India analyses how the Indian education system can be re structured to shape the cognitive skills inter personal sensibilities and cultural sophistication of the children and prepare them for a globalized knowledge society For scholars and practitioners of sociology and education as well as policy makers it offers insights into the effect of liberalization on education and the impact of initiatives like public private partnership and explores the roadblocks and facilitators on the road to educational reforms
