Globalizing Practices And University Responses European And Angloamerican Differences:

Globalizing Practices and University Responses Jan Currie, Richard Deangelis, Harry deBoer, Jeroen Huisman, Claude Lacotte, 2003-01-30 Investigates the impact that certain globalizing practices have on European and American universities Due to dwindling resources and the ideology of privatization universities are becoming more corporatized and managerial The authors investigate the consequences of these changes on the lives of academics and analyze how globalizing practices such as managerialism accountability and employment flexibility penetrate different universities Globalization is a contested term It exists in the form of an integrated world economy and global communication networks Along with this material world politicians have created a neoliberal ideology that exhorts nation states to open up their economies to free trade reduce their public sector and allow market forces to reshape their public agencies In effect this means a reduced role for government lower taxes and diminishing funds for public institutions like universities The underlying thesis of this book is that globalization is not an inexorable force All nations need to debate its consequences The authors analyze how globalizing practices are penetrating universities Are they creating a certain uniformity Are academics adapting to or resisting particular globalizing practices The premise at the beginning of the study was that European universities were responding differently to globalizing practices than Anglo American universities This premise was confirmed as some universities saw certain globalizing practices as inevitable and other universities resisted them The authors asked academics and key managers how their funding had changed and which accountability mechanisms their universities adopted They also investigated the use of the Internet in their teaching They found differences between European and American universities in their approach to permanent employment The French and Norwegian universities were maintaining many of their traditional values and only the Dutch university showed some movement towards the globalizing practices which American universities were more readily adopting

Globalizing Practices and University Responses Jan Currie, Richard Arthur DeAngelis, 2006 Academic Collaborations in the Global Marketplace Anatoly V. Oleksiyyenko, 2019-08-23 This book explains why conflict between the institutional and human agencies is an unavoidable outcome of competing local national and global agendas at a major research university It illustrates this by means of a case study of Glonacal U a university which belongs to the category of exceptional institutions that excel due to an established organizational culture of academic freedom research excellence shared governance and intellectual leadership The book shows how such a university may succumb to anxiety when neoliberal managers seek to exploit stakeholder doubts about university sufficiency relevance and performance in national and global markets and hierarchies of knowledge products and status goods As top down pressure for strategic choices in scientific partnerships increases at the world class university grassroots resistance to centralization increases also in order to remind the research university leaders that intellectual work and academic freedom are interdependent and central to building capacities for impactful global science Productive global linkages are prerogative of academics who take full responsibility for success of project implementation and outcomes in scholarship and practice

China's Mongols at University Zhenzhou Zhao, Wing On Lee, 2010-04-09 Minority students in China often receive preferential treatment for access to universities However very little is known about minority student experiences and perceptions on campus after they are accorded what s called meaningful access to university The Mongols emerged as a distinct ethnic group in China starting in the 11th century and in the centuries that followed conquered a large part of the world However in modern times this nomadic people s influence has declined and even their survival in China has been threatened This decline is evidenced by the fact that increasing numbers of Mongols have abandoned their native language and traditional customs especially those who live in cities How do Mongol university students who form the backbone of the Mongol intellectual community identify themselves in a modern Chinese context How do they react as university students to the way in which their culture is recognized and represented Do Mongol students suffer from injustice in the cultural dimension of campus life China s Mongols at University Contesting Cultural Recognition seeks to answer these questions Zhenzhou Zhao addresses these issues by comparing the university discourse on minority culture policy institutional structure and daily life and the Mongol student discourse concerning their experiences perceptions of recognition and dedication to self representation on campus Additionally Gao compares three universities in China Located in Inner Mongolia Autonomous Region Beijing and Hubei Province respectively each of these universities represents one of three types of higher education accessible to minority students in China universities located in ethnic areas standard universities and universities for nationalities China s Mongols at University explores and discusses an intrinsic connection between marketization and globalization and the disadvantages faced by minority groups This book argues that China must move from a policy of preferential tre

Globalization and Education Nelly P. Stromquist, Karen Monkman, 2014-03-04 We offer in this book a collection of chapters that reflect a broad range of issues linking globalization to education in an accessible yet theoretically grounded and detailed form The authors analyze phenomena on the global plane in local spaces and in the connections between the global and the local New developments such as the growing impact of technology on education the emergence of new policy actors the growing expansion and segmentation of higher education the salience of human rights among others are emerging as powerful agendas shaping all levels of education In fundamental ways the forces of globalization challenge the previous approaches and theories of national development Recognizing the areas of convergence dissonance and conflict should help us grasp with greater clarity the implications of globalization for education and knowledge in the XXI century The contributors to this book include both well known scholars in the field of comparative education as well as young scholars The chapters present a balanced geographical coverage in terms of authors and the countries regions examined The second edition has been thoroughly updated throughout and contains seven new chapters The expanding interest in the intersection of education and globalization has brought up several new topics including the salience of global education policies notably EFA the expansion and differentiation of higher education the emphasis on work related training the increasing role of non state actors such as the transnational corporations and greater attention to human rights Also in this new edition is a chapter on qualitative methodologies especially suitable to the understanding of the intersection of globalization and education

Political Science in Europe Thibaud Boncourt, Isabelle Engeli, Diego Garzia, 2020-05-28 The last half century has been a defining period for the development of political science in Europe disciplinary norms have become institutionalized in professional organizations training units and research centres the scholarly community has dramatically grown in size across the continent the analytical and methodological tools of the discipline are increasingly sophisticated and the knowledge disseminated under the label political science is bigger than it has ever been Political Science in Europe takes stock of these developments and reflects on the achievements of the discipline and the challenges it faces Is there a distinctive European blend of political science Is the European political science community cohesive and inclusive How does the discipline cope with the neoliberalisation of academia and the diffusion of illiberal politics Leading and up and coming political scientists answer these questions by discussing the discipline s key concepts and intellectual trends its professional structures and its relationship with its social economic and political environment
