Go West, Young Lady ,1951 Go West, Young Women! Hilary Hallett, 2013-01-15 In the early part of the twentieth century migrants made their way from rural homes to cities in record numbers and many traveled west Los Angeles became a destination Women flocked to the growing town to join the film industry as workers and spectators creating a New Woman Their efforts transformed filmmaking from a marginal business to a cosmopolitan glamorous and bohemian one By 1920 Los Angeles had become the only western city where women outnumbered men In Go West Young Women Hilary A Hallett explores these relatively unknown new western women and their role in the development of Los Angeles and the nascent film industry From Mary Pickford's rise to become perhaps the most powerful woman of her age to the racist moral panics of the post World War I years that culminated in Hollywood's first sex scandal Hallett describes how the path through early Hollywood presaged the struggles over modern gender roles that animated the century to come Go West, Young Lady

The Movies as a World Force Ryan Jay Friedman,2019-02-04 Throughout the silent feature era American artists and intellectuals routinely described cinema as a force of global communion a universal language promoting mutual understanding and harmonious coexistence amongst disparate groups of people In the early 1920s film industry leaders began to espouse this utopian view in order to claim for motion pictures an essentially uplifting social function The Movies as a World Force examines the body of writing in which this understanding of cinema emerged and explores how it shaped particular silent films and their marketing campaigns The utopian and universalist view of cinema the book shows represents a synthesis of New Age spirituality and the new liberalism It provided a framework for the first official written histories of American cinema and persisted as an advertising trope even after the transition to sound made movies reliant on specific national languages Westward Expansion James F.
