In the World, But Not of the World Andrew L. Fitz-Gibbon, 2000-01-01 In the World But Not of the World explores the threefold tension among Alasdair MacIntyre s prognosis for Western society the desires of some for a social transformation with a Christian moral vision at the sacred centre and a baptist understanding of Christianity as essentially voluntary non sacralist discipleship Andrew Fitz Gibbon uses five contemporary Christian social thinkers from different traditions as conversation partners Through his examination of these thinkers Fitz Gibbon explores how the church may continue to truthfully narrate the Christian story in the midst of the moral tensions of late capitalist Western society His creative conclusion is that the church at the beginning of the twenty first century can move toward a resolution of the central tension of being in the world but not of the world through a synthesis of the believers church tradition and an affirmation of communitarian liberal democracy

Relationships Neil Pembroke,2004 In this illuminating and thoughtful text Neil Pembroke shows how relationships form the heart of chaplaincy nursing and social care practice Developing ideas from Martin Buber and virtue theory he shows how authentic compassionate self communication forms the basis of relatedness in human services work Drawing on examples from everyday life and human services work settings Pembroke demonstrates the importance of trust and feelings of belonging in the working environment He considers in particular the connection between spirituality and the idea of personal charm showing how charm can be seen as a vital component in the communication of self which enables us to nurture the physical and spiritual well being of those we care for Three in One Michael Novak,2001 Throughout his many writings Michael Novak one of the leading Catholic social theorists of our times has urged us to adopt a tripartite system of democratic capitalism including a market economy a democratic polity and a moral cultural system that would nourish the values and virtues on which free societies depend Three in One introduces the reader to Novak s portrait of democratic capitalism Human Goods, Economic Evils Edward Hadas,2007 Much of modern economic theory is based on a rather unflattering view of human nature one that is essentially selfish and materialistic Not surprisingly this incomplete version of human anthropology makes for some rather incomplete economic theory argues Edward Hadas in Human Goods Economic Evils Instead of simply being utility maximizers Hadas argues human beings also seek to maximize morality in their everyday economic lives For Hadas economic man is moral man who always strives for the good according to his nature While the weakness of human nature ensures that the good is never fully achieved economic activity is nevertheless best understood as part of the great moral enterprise of humanity Human Goods Economic Evils does not claim that the basic economic activities of laboring and consuming are the most important things in life but they are literally vital and as such deserve to be studied and understood through a more morally sympathetic view of human nature With this in mind Human Goods Economic Evils provides both lay readers and policymakers the intellectual tools necessary to judge what is right and what is wrong about the modern economy and returns the study of economics to its proper more humanistic sphere The Journal of Markets
